Zionism? Racism?

The overwhelming vote in the United Nations condemning Zionism as Racism, and equating it with South African apartheid, is a new and giant step towards the rehabilitation of Hitlerism. The political concept of Zionism, which has never been adopted universally by Jews, now becomes a part of the total Jewish concept of the realities of life. Simultaneously, those non-Zionist Jews who have viewed Israel with either some kind of identification or love, feel the long clammy claw reaching out from the graves of the Hitler minions and now rising in modern garb. No matter how loud the protestations, that they make a distinction between Zionists and Jews, the line is thin and the next step is to condemn diaspora Jews for supporting Israel, to condemn governments and official bodies supporting Jews. Add to this the mounting economic pressures, (wide unemployment and inflation in Germany just prior to Hitler) and slowly the erosion, from fear and want, will take place and supporters and friends of Israel among the non-Jews will begin to occur. Rationalization will emerge justifying these acts, as good Germans began to accept Hitler and then, not just Israel, but Jews, regardless of their nationality, will become targets of active prejudice.

The world climate serves as a succubus to entice the economically disaffected and disoriented, and on the other end of the spectrum, the power establishments, fearful of erosion, to unite on this new and convenient target. Unsophisticates in third world lands as well as sophisticates in first world lands with axes to grind, will join to cast out this new devil which infects the world; to make it pure as Hitler made Germany Judenrein.

This may appear to be an advance Gothic tale but those who forget history, Santayana said, are condemned to relive it. Jews must be alert to this phenomenon and its potential. Statements by Jews who head organizations are not enough. Pleas and petitions to members of Congress are not enough because already among them are those falling by the wayside. A program of manifestation and action is necessary. Perhaps even the streets should be filled. Instead of supporting party hacks and general candidates with finance and numbers, we should enter our own lists and around these candidates the truth should be told. Zionism should be explained; Judaism should be re-explained. The existence of both as part of the world's history should be made manifest, too, and understood by all others. The truth should also encompass those aspects of these twin matters which are unpalatable to others, but it must be revealed. The whole story and nothing else. But the time for action is "at hand."

Plot Lebanon Take-Over

UNITED NATIONS (WUP) -- The tragic crisis in Lebanon, leaving some 26,000 casualties -- 6,000 killed and 20,000 wounded -- since the outbreak of the 'civil' war in the spring of this year, has its mainspring in the 'unwanted' presence in that unfortunate country of the PLO terrorists who have converted the UNRWA-supported refugee camps into military fortresses.

In collusion with and the main instigator of the PLO intervention in Lebanon is intransigent Syria which has never given up its dream of annexing the former French mandated region and Damascus now sees a hope of its fulfillment through Yassir Arafat's gangsters who are being heavily financed by Libya, the third party in this unholy anti-Israeli, anti-Jewish alliance.

But, as the whole world knows, there is also a fourth party involved in this sinister scheme to transform the former 'moderate' Lebanon into a radical state. President Sadat, in a speech following the signing of the Sinai agreement, made it crystal-clear that Moscow had a finger in the whole business. He charged that the Syrian regime had allowed itself to become a tool of the Soviet Union. "The tragedy started," he declared, "when the USSR sent a message to our brothers in Syria telling them that they would not attend the signing of the Egyptian-Israeli agreement."

Having apparently lost Egypt as a possible ally in their avowed aim to undo Israel and uncertain of Jordan's role in any future military tion of the court procedure.

Not all persons arrested for D.U.I. are alcoholics, just about 70 per cent, according to Linda La Combe, public relations director. The others, simply out on a binge, are dangerous, nevertheless. The more serious drinkers, frequent offenders are subject to special programs requiring a minimum of three months of counseling.

It is important to note that anyone who realizes a drinking problem may take advantage of the service without having to be referred by a court.

At present approximately 100 persons are enrolled in the CRS program and the ultimate results have been termed most satisfactory by judges and knowledgeable citizens.

The success of CRS may be measured by the expansion of its services to include: Affiliation with Sunrise Hospital, which instituted a one-hour, out-patient program; lecturing more than 2,000 students a month on the problems of drinking and drug abuse; the youth program for children of older offenders, and encouragement of families of offenders to attend meetings where domestic problems are involved.

Here we have a self-sufficient, non-profit organization dedicated to reduction of substance abuse, which, without doubt, is the most sensible approach to one of the most serious problems in American society.

We tip our hat in most gracious acknowledgement of the beneficial services being performed by CRS at their new offices, 1111 Las Vegas Boulevard South, Suite 310.

Mideast showdown, the Soviet-supported Syrian-PLO-Libyan 'troika' has done and is doing everything within its conspiratorial means to exacerbate the Lebanese crisis to the point of no return as far as Beirut's present independence is concerned. The goal is to create a pro-Syrian-PLO regime under Soviet Tutelage aimed primarily as a new springboard, a new front, against Israel.

Damascus has always considered both Lebanon and Palestine as part and parcel of a 'Greater Syria,' and it is in this context that one must view the present turmoil in Beirut.

Under the pretext of 'saving' the situation by pretending to act as 'mediators' between the feuding Christian - Moslem - leftist elements, Assad and Arafat are secretly and under-handedly provoking the antagonists by goading one against the other. Indeed, so long as the PLO terrorists remain in Lebanon as a sort of 'government' within a Government there can be no hope for that strife-torn nation.

It is now possible to understand why this Syrian-PLO-Libyan 'troika' had boycotted the recent Cairo conference of Arab foreign ministers seeking to settle communal strife in Lebanon. Reporting on this boycott, Times correspondent Henry Tanner called from the Egyptian capital that "their refusal to send delegations was clearly intended as a slap at President Anwar el-Sadat for having signed the Sinai disengagement agreement with Israel. The agreement," Tanner added, "has been severely criticized by Syrian and Palestinian spokesmen as a disservice to the Arab cause and a 'defection' by Egypt from Arab military ranks against Israel."

In a follow-up dispatch dealing with the Arab League conference, Mr. Tanner cited Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy as having issued a stern warning before the delegates assembled against "all outsiders not to interfere in Lebanon." Many listeners at the conference, Tanner wrote, "thought he was thinking primarily of Syria, which has played a major role as mediator between the various Lebanese factions."

It goes without saying that Israel is very much concerned over the latest ominous developments in Lebanon. Any armed intervention by Syria -- already many Syrian soldiers posing as Palestinians have infiltrated the country -- will be viewed by Jerusalem as an act of war aimed against the Jewish State and there can be no doubt as to how the Israeli Defense Forces will meet this threat.
