GREG GOUSSAK'S
AZA
IN LAS VEGAS

FRATERNITY is the word that really defines what AZA is all about.

Jack Entratter AZA had a sleepover at the Jewish Community Center Gym on November 15 and more of these possibly could be planned in the future.

Also, Entratter AZA is still selling beautiful candles just in time for Chanukkah. They are bi-centennial, and animal candles. In addition, they are selling address, calendar books which are very handy. They usually sell them at Temple Beth Sholom in the lobby on Sunday mornings.

Both Jack Entratter AZA and Las Vegas AZA are having the 2nd and final AZA Sabbath at Temple Ner Tamid.

Also coming up is a basketball team for AZA both chapters. All kids in High School are eligible for the team. There should be about 8 to 9 going out. Las Vegas BBG has already started on the regional convention coming up on December 26 to 29. It will be held for AZA and BBG at the Adams Hotel in downtown Phoenix. And for your information, if there are any new members considering joining AZA or BBG this is the right time, because this is one of the best events on the regional level of the year. Our year runs from March to March and not from January to January. So much will be done in those 4 days and all of it will be FUN!! So come down to one of the chapters on Wednesday night at 8 p.m. See what it is like, talk to me, I will be happy to answer any of your questions. If you'd like to call me my phone number is 458-3674.

Just for something to look at in the future, Las Vegas Council AZA (made up of Jack Entratter AZA and Las Vegas AZA) are having their 4th Annual Queen Esther Ball on March 20, 1976. We would like your support on this so if you are asked to put an ad in our Testimonial Tribute Book please do so. It is tax deductible and it is for a good cause. Ads run for 5 dollars to 55 dollars.
