An Early Chanukkah

By Robert E. Segal

Chanukah arrives early this year, sending the warm glow of its candles forth to encourage all who cherish religious liberty. This most enduring festival of spiritual freedom dawns, dramatically, as the last hurrahs are heard for Generalissimo Francisco Franco whose regime and native land have symbolized, in many respects, the opposite of Chanukah.

Chanukah commemorates the glory of the Maccabees willing to die rather than abandon their faith at the harsh command of Syrian conquerors. Franco, the last major figure in a sorry parade of fascist dictators, held religious freedom in much the same contempt he looked upon freedom of speech, press, assembly, and political development. Chanukah taught the world that a price is extracted from those who battle to cling to a creed envied and de-

PROUD ZIONIST

Palestine Refugees

Palestine refugees are indeed a serious problem and Israel is more concerned about their settlement and welfare than all the Arab nations combined.

We're not talking about the Palestine Liberation Organization (P.L.O.), representing less than one tenth of the Palestinians, headed by Arafat, who is a terrorist and murderer of innocent women and children.

The Palestine refugees are innocent Arabs who were coerced in 1948 to leave what is now Israel when it was designated as an independent country by the U.N. But the Arab countries never allowed the Palestinians to move further than the outside borders of Israel. Instead, they were confined in barbed-wire, tent cities, where they were held, almost captive, by the Arab nations.

Over the years the U.N. has provided substance for the Palestinians, with Israel one of the largest contributors to their support.

Now, a generation later, there are many factions, each purporting to represent the million or so Palestinians who are seeking to find their place in the Mideast. Most powerful, because of his strong-arm tactics, but certainly not most numerical is the P.L.O., with a vowed purpose of eliminating Israel.

Aided and abetted by Syria, the P.L.O. is being supplied Russian arms to carry out its abortive purpose.

It is a sad state of affairs because Russia, all
