

CONSERVATIVES TO AFFILIATE WITH WZO

KIAMESHA LAKE, N.Y. (WNS) — The Conservative movement is taking the final steps to formal affiliation with the World Zionist Organization, the delegates to the biennial convention of the United Synagogue of America, the congregational arms of Conservative Judaism, were told.

Arthur J. Kevine, president of the organization, said that affiliation would be effected through the World Council of Synagogues, the international organization of Conservative congregations which has its headquarters in Jerusalem. Rabbi Bernard Segal, executive vice-president of the United Synagogue of America, said that since its inception in 1913 Conservative Judaism has been "unequivocally committed to Zionism" and has not sought affiliation with the WZO "as a way of demonstrating that Zionism is an integral part of Judaism." He said "the time has therefore arrived for the Conservative movement to identify itself formally with the PLO and thus reaffirm the indivisibility of the land of Israel and Judaism." Rabbi Bernard Kreitman, who will succeed Rabbi Segal as executive vice-president, urged Conservative Jews not to harbor "guilt feelings" over the changes in religious ritual and practices

Conservative Judaism has introduced over the past 60 years. "We must acclaim them, instead, as in the true tradition of Rabbinic Judaism which has seen constant change." He hailed the expansion of Conservative Judaism in Israel where 10 Conserva-

Congregations now function and said the movement can become "an alternative, possibly the only alternative, to a fundamentalist, rigid, unyielding orthodoxy that has alienated so many religiously-minded Israelis."
