Mel Exber, President and General Manager of the Las Vegas Club, has been named recipient of the third annual Honor Award to be presented at a Dinner-Dance of the Las Vegas Friends of National Jewish Hospital and Research Center on Sunday, January 18, in the Colosseum Room of Caesars Palace.

The Arthur Lyman Show, making its first Las Vegas appearance of the 70's, is doing turnaway business in the Sahara's Don the Beach-comber Polynesian Restaurant.

Dear Jack:
I would like to commend you on your editorial, "Zionism is Judaism" in the ISRAELITE issue of November 21. It was written with knowledge and understanding about the plight of our Jews.
Your faithful reader of the ISRAELITE,

Bessie Friedman
(Las Vegas)

Maynard Sloate did it again with a legit show at the Union Plaza. His current, "Norman, Is That You?" starring Milton Kamen, is in the ninth, turnaway week. Maynard is a real pro who does not insult paying customers. He's unique in Las Vegas and deserves full support. (J.T.)

Confirmation Sabbath, Friday, December 5, at Temple Beth Sholom, will honor the Class of 1975. Confirmands are Alan Chenin, Fran Cohen, Stephanie Feldman, Liza Shore and Lorie Warren, whose parents will host a reception in the Entratter Social Hall following Services.

The Little Theatre at UNLV will present children's classic "Winnie-the-Pooh" beginning December 5 until December 21. Call 739-3641.

Get well wishes to Jack Jacobson, who underwent surgery. Jack is now home.

Congratulations to Annette & Milton Friedman on their anniversary.

Here I am again to tell you about how the Chanukah and Tupperware parties went in just one word - FANTASTIC!!!

The Chanukah Party had about 16 people. There was dancing, songs, basketball, volleyball and food, food, food. The members brought the eatables and it was all DELICIOUS.

The Tupperware Party was the best fund-raiser Junior United Synagogue Youth ever had. I wish we could keep all the money earned, but of course, most of it goes to Tupperware. Thanks again to Beverly Chamine, who was a tremendous help.

A special meeting for Board Officers was held November 24, which our advisor, Roberts Kretchner, supervised. If there is a talent show rehearsal Saturday night, November 29, U.S.Y. members will be called.

Happy Birthday to Joe Merkin, a Senior U.S.Y. member, whose birthday falls during the Chanukah holiday season.

Shalom and Happy Chanukah to all!

Pat and Candy Ginn were blessed with a baby girl at 12:02 p.m. on Saturday, September 22 to round out a beautiful family with Pat, Jr. and Vincent. Pat's mother and a sister were joined this week by a second sister from Hong Kong, so there will be plenty of arms from half a world away to cradle the newcomer. The little doll checked in at Sunrise Hospital weighing five pounds, twelve ounces and measured 20 inches long. Pat says she's a honey. The Ginns are wonderful people and deserve every happiness.

Buddy Frank Quinn, amusement editor of the N.Y. Daily Mirror for a quarter of a century, now telling the truth about TV shows and films for the slick Town Topics monthly out of Hollywood, Florida. Frank knows more under his toupe than Hedda, Louella, Rona and all the rest combined. Welcome back to the "enlightening set."

Ethel & Jack Schieff celebrated their 36th wedding anniversary. Their one and only son, Mark, is V.P. of the National Medical Enterprises based in Los Angeles, California. Mark and his wife, Karen, also celebrated their fifth wedding anniversary.

All the BBYO chapters in Vegas are busy doing fun things and earning a little money on the side. Jack Entratter AZA can be seen every Sunday at the Temple selling candles and pocket calendars. Wander over and see, maybe for Chanukah you need something.

The B'nai B'rith Girls are involving themselves in community service projects; just last week they visited a home for the aged.

In December, we will all head for the Regional Convention to be held in Arizona. If you could all attend one of these conventions you would be dedicated to BBYO from then on.

In order to meet our commitment to International Service Fund, all three chapters have made pledges. They are busy raising money. Entratter AZA had a sleep-over at Temple Beth Sholom, in the gym. The money they raised on their slave auction will go to ISF. Sam Schwartz, Jeff Martin, Tobi Handelman and Janet Cohen were auctioned off as slaves. The other events in the Crazy Olympics planned by Mark Handelman that night was a whip cream facial. Harmon Kirsch and Kenny Goussak took part in a pie throwing contest. They really had quite a facial. The human horse races, and the root beer chug-alug were fun. By Sunday, everyone, including advisor Mort Kirsch, looked like they were dying...But they stayed on at the temple to sell their candles, much fun you're missing unless you get out and join us...See you Wednesday.
