

FABULOUS ICE FOLLIES DEBUTS IN VEGAS AT SAHARA DEC. 10

The fabulous Ice Follies, celebrating its 40th anniversary, will make its first-ever appearance on the Las Vegas Strip when the world's premiere skating spectacular presents its complete arena show at the Sahara Hotel, December 10-21.

The Sahara will convert its entire Space Center Convention Hall into a gigantic ice rink to accommodate the show, which in previous Las Vegas appearances has had to be capsulized into a 40-minute act on a 40-foot stage for main showrooms. The Sahara show is expected to run slightly more than two hours and feature all the stars seen with Ice Follies in America's largest indoor arenas including the Chicago Stadium, Boston Gardens, Madison Square Garden and L. A. Forum.

Stars who will be featured include Werner Groebli, the fabulous "Mr. Frick," --the greatest of all skating comics and the inventor of the famed cantilever skating stunt. At 62 years of age, he still performs the cantilever stunt better than any of his imitators.

The collection of dazzling feminine headliners include Karen Kresge, the gorgeous Clevelander who will be making her final appearance as a Follies great in the Sahara show; Christo Ito, a pint-sized Japanese-American from Portland; Dorian Prys-chun from Canada and Susan Berens, a Los Angeles gal rated one of the finest skaters in the world.

The male contingent is headed by Richard Dwyer, a handsome veteran who is also paired with Ms. Berens in sensational dual skating routines; Jackie Davis, a Polynesian who learned to skate in the Northwest and David Comb, a daredevil acrobatic stuntman from San Francisco.

The staging and production are excellent. Two production numbers have literally taken spectators by storm, winning plaudits from coast-to-coast. First is the skating edition of the Children's Television Workshop's classic "Sesame Street," bringing to ice those notorious characters "Big Bird," "The Cookie Monster," "Ernie," "Bert" and "Grover." The grand finale is equally as breathtaking a salute to our Bicentennial year entitled "This is My Country."

The 40th Edition of the Ice Follies is produced by Bob Shipstad. Costumes are designed by Helen Colvig. Musical director is Paul Walberg, choreographers are Helen & Bobby Maxson and art director is Bill Tury.

Billed as a holiday season entertainment treat, the Ice Follies will be presented in 19 performances during its 11-day stand at the Sahara. Single shows will be held on Wednesday, December 10; Thursday, December 11, two shows on Friday, December 12, three on Saturday, December 13, and two on Sunday, December 14. There will be no performances on Monday, December 15, but the second week will see one show each night Tuesday, December 16 through

$150,000 SAHARA GIVEAWAY THRU DEC. 24

The familiar ring of Las Vegas slot machines will be louder than ever through December 24, as Del Webb's Hotel Sahara celebrates its 23rd anniversary with its annual Super Sahara Celebration.

More than $150,000 in cash prizes will be paid out to some 8,000 winners during the 25-day giveaway which runs through Christmas Eve. And the lowest daily roomrate of the year during the entire event adds to the excitement of Las Vegas's oldest and most famous cash giveaway promotion.

While a $5,000 cash grand prize drawing will close the Super Celebration on December 24, the most spectacular event is sure to be the nightly drawings for contestants for the $100,000 Shower of Money, an attraction seen frequently on Thursday, December 18; two shows on Friday, December 19; three on Saturday, December 20 and two on Sunday, December 21. All tickets will be handled through a special ticket booth at the Sahara Hotel.

such national television shows as "Hollywood Squares" and "Concentration." Each evening a lucky contestant will be showered by $100,000 in crisp U.S. currency and will be allowed one minute to hand out bills as fast as he can. No bill is worth less than $5.00 and each winner keeps all the bills he hands out of the booth.

Other giveaways center around the Sahara's slot machines and Keno game, producing more than 500 winners each day. The action gets underway at 3 p.m. daily and continues into the early morning hours. Special events are scheduled for Sahara house-guests only, including two cash drawings each day, a free cocktail party daily and unique gifts and prizes.

The Sahara has lowered its room rates to an unbelievable $16 per day Sunday through Thursday, and only $20 on Friday and Saturday. As always, record crowds are expected, so advance reservations are advised. For details contact Del Webb's Hotel Sahara or your travel agent.
