

REAGAN, FORD SKIP IN-DEPTH TALK WITH REFORM LEADERS

WASH. (WNS) -- The leaders of the Central Conference of American Rabbis and the Union of American Hebrew Congregations held in-depth discussions with eight declared candidates for the Democratic nomination for the Presidency.

Each candidate spent an hour with Rabbi Alexander Schindler, UAHC's president, and Rabbi Ely Pilchik, vice president of the CCAR. The participating Democratic hopefuls who participated were Alabama Gov. George Wallace; Sargeant Shriver of Maryland, Rep. Morris Udall of Utah; Sen. Lloyd Bentson of Texas; Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp; Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington; Fred Harris of Oklahoma, and former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter.

Republicans Ronald Reagan and President Ford were invited but did not attend.

Schindler and Pilchik stressed that the purpose of the dialogue was not to endorse candidates but "to convey our concerns" on international and domestic issues.

Schindler noted that "the candidates may think we are limited to so-called Jewish issues -- the Middle East, Soviet Jews, the Arab boycott, Syrian Jews." He noted that domestic issues dominated the dialogue including "unemployment in America as a first concern," civil liberties and rights, welfare programs, national health services, crime and gun control.

The rabbis said that in foreign affairs, "first and foremost Israel has to be supported." Pilchik said that "every candidate in expressing unquestioned support for Israel, was not doing it as a favor for Jews or a come-on for Jewish votes but as necessity for the geo-political position of the United States."

Schindler said that also discussed was the condition of Soviet and Syrian Jews and the Arab boycott.

A bit of Americana with a unique twist is offered at a free concert Sunday, March 14 in the Judy Bayley Theatre at UNLV.
