

Passover Message

By Dr. Alfred Gottschalk

We celebrate this Passover season during the Bicentennial of our nation and during the Centennial of Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion. We are commanded to tell the story of the Exodus at the Seder table. This commandment, a very old one, involves passing down from generation to generation a story of liberation from bondage, and the ending of oppression. As American Jews we are linked as one with our brethren in Israel in their concern to develop as a nation dedicated to our Jewish heritage of freedom. We yearn with them for a lasting peace in the Middle East and elsewhere in the world. At this season, we are particularly alert to present injustice, to urban blight, to poverty and prejudice that still remain in this nation despite the ideals of its founding fathers. It is necessary for us at this time to use our collective strength and our academic resources to build new bridges of understanding that will eradicate current evils and create a human and sensitized world. History has taught us that rational options for the future must be based on knowledge and understanding of the heritage of the past. Those who forget the past are condemned to relive it.

Passover, A Family Affair

By Rose Halprin

The memory of the extended family at the Seder table, is strong within me at this time of the year. In the chronicle of Jewish celebrations, the Passover has its own very special associations. It is, perhaps more than any other holiday, a family affair, in which the youngest and the oldest has his appointed part to play. In the Hagadah, we recall slavery, and the march to freedom, the wandering in the desert to prepare a generation for the tasks of freedom, for the deepening of religious commitment, and the strains of founding a new society. Strange, in a way, that after 2000 years, the same problems face us both here and in Israel.

The tasks of freedom inevitably change from time to time, though its goals are constant. The achievement of a society dedicated to the highest teachings of our forebears, is still an unfinished task.

Because Israel is not yet at peace, we are engrossed by the dangers that it faces, and the political uncertainty which must be resolved. But deep within the holiday celebration, lie the unchanging eternal truths that should give us guidance and strength: the obligation of each individual to seek the collective good; the responsibility of each to contribute according to his capabilities and potential, the respect of human values; the concept of "Klal Israel" and the commitment to safeguard freedom which is part of its social ethics. Underlying the search for solution of Israel's problems is the commitment for the strengthening of those values which lie at the base of our nation, religious, social and cultural heritage.

 A bad mechanic
 Or no mechanic at all
 And with watches, it's no different than with cars.
 Our WYLER watches come from Switzerland where they believe in built-in quality. Not flash, not gimmicks. Just constant quality performance.
 But if your WYLER ever needs servicing, you've got the best mechanic in town. We are recognized watch professionals—and all the genuine WYLER parts are right here.
 So don't get taken. Like a fine car, a fine watch must come from a reliable dealer, who will give you honest value. Like cars, WYLERS come in a choice of models starting at only 39.95. All with written guarantees—the factory's and our own. As a matter of fact, we wear WYLER watches ourselves.
