

OAK RIDGE BOYS AT LANDMARK ARE TRUE REPRESENTATIVE AMERICANS

OAK RIDGE BOYS AT LANDMARK RENDER 'AMERICAN TRILOGY' PERFORMED IN CULTURAL EXCHANGE PROGRAM WITH RUSSIA, ON TOUR WITH ROY CLARK.

When the Oak Ridge Boys climax their musical jubilee of country, pop, rock and gospel in the Landmark's Jubilee Showroom with "The American Trilogy" they are not just another bunch of flag-wavers caught up in the fever of the Bicentennial celebration -- they really mean it. Earlier this year, they had the privilege of being a part of a cultural exchange program between the state departments of the United States and Russia; a tour which they made with Roy Clark. Probably the most exciting booking yet for the Oaks, it left them with many impressions, but the most important was their sincere appreciation of the fact that they are Americans.

The Oak Ridge Boys -- vocalists Richard Sterban, bass; (one of the youngest, best looking and most talented in the country) Joe Bonsall, tenor; Duane Allen, lead and William Golden, baritone; along with the mighty Oaks band -- have received two Grammy awards, nine Dove awards and have appeared on several national television shows; their two most recent being for Mike Douglas.

Comedy juggling, magic, soft shoe and humorous quips are all rolled up into the presentation of one rotund funny fellow, Mike Caldwell. Opening his act with a surprise flip (not too easy when you weigh 300 pounds) he draws laughs as big as himself with his humorous potpourri.

Also featured on the family oriented show are banjoist Skip De Vol and singer Linda Hart.

MINISTER WARNS OF CONVERSION EFFORTS

NEW YORK (WNS) -- Christian missionary organizations have launched a massive effort to convert Jews this summer through street corner drives in every major American city, according to the Rev. Paul R. Carlson, a New York City Presbyterian minister with close ties to the Jewish community.

The Rev. Paul R. Carlson, a pastor of a Queens church, a journalist and author of the book, "O Christian O Jew!" which explains Judaism to Christians, said the effort known as "Operation Birthday Cake" is more of a threat to the Jewish community than was the nationwide "Key '73" program three years ago. He said the operation involves all of the missionary groups including ones such as the old American Board of the Missions to the Jews which seek to convert Jews outright and the so-called Hebrew Christians who espouse the "fraud" that Christianity is the true Judaism.

One of the Hebrew Christian groups, Jews for Jesus, which aims its message at young Jews, planned a massive campaign among the Bicentennial crowds in New York, Philadelphia and Washington. Carlson, who is working on a doctoral dissertation on the Holocaust and teaches a course on the Holocaust at his church, the Glenn Morris Presbyterian Church in Queens, said that he has found from his experience that most Hebrew Christians are either self-hating Jews or persons whose last contact with Judaism was at their bar or bat mitzvah. Carlson said many of them claim to come from Orthodox families, a statement he does not believe. He said most know little about Judaism.

Carlson said that he has always preached that neither conversion nor assimilation works.
