of the Charter of the UN and of universally accepted principles of international law, and create precedents of incalculable danger for all civilized coexistence." Of course, the letter also condemned "all terrorist acts."

Herzog, in his masterful speech, delivered the day before the vote, took note of this intervention. "We have always followed with understanding the very active campaign Mexico is conducting against terrorism which affects it," he stated. "We are therefore all the more surprised that Mexico is able to reveal a similar measure of understanding when action is taken designed to combat terror in cases where the victims are not Mexicans. It is utterly incredible and beyond the realm of understanding," he added, "that political expediency should dictate to the Government of Mexico and lead it to attack a small State defending itself against a common enemy of Mexico and Israel, namely, international terror."

One basic thing, nay two, emerge out of the Entebbe incident as revealed from the four-day Council debate: 1. All nations, friend or foe, stand in awe over Israel's unparalleled military feat, and 2. The status of the PLO has sunk to its lowest depths. And let us add a third: International terrorism has been dealt a death-blow.

TEL AVIV (WNS) -- Denis de Jean, vice-president and European general manager for Air France, arrived in Israel to personally express the thanks of the French national air carrier for the rescue of the hostages and crew of the hijacked Air France plane at Entebbe Airport in Uganda.
