

NCCJ'S HIGH HOLY DAYS MESSAGE

NEW YORK -- Dr. David Hyatt, president of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, has called on people of all religious persuasions to demand that "powerful governments" and the United Nations "do something to prevent the increasing terrorism and mounting holocaust that is destroying the world."

In a message marking the celebration of the Jewish high holy days, Rosh Hashanah and Yom

Kippur, Dr. Hyatt, a Roman Catholic, declared that Christians, Moslems, Buddhists, and all religious groups, "should humbly join their Jewish brothers and sisters in penitent meditation over the sorry state of the world due chiefly to our own apathy, neglect and lack of concern for others."

"For without actually acknowledging it," declared Dr. Hyatt, "we are going through a worldwide holocaust almost as shocking, as profoundly nihilistic and as devastating in its total disregard of and irreverence for human life as Hitler's annihilation of six million Jews through the Nazi-inspired holocaust of World War II."

The NCCJ President called the 10 days of penitence "apropos" for everyone to take a strong vocal stand against the violence and bloodshed so prevalent around the world, and to demand that the powerful governments of the world unilaterally, and the United Nations multilaterally, do something to prevent the rise in terror.

Otherwise, he contended, "like the endless reels of crime and terror on television, killing will be so commonly accepted that life loses all value and sacredness."
