

RUSSIA EMBRACES LIBYA'S FANATIC QADDAFI

UNITED NATIONS (WUP) -- If ever proof was needed to convince anyone that expediency, not principle or morality, motivated the policy of the Soviet Union it can be found in the fact that the atheistic Kremlin leaders have embraced as a bedfellow one of the world's most rabid ultra-religious fanatics -- Col. Muammar el-Qaddafi of Libya. Having practically lost Egypt as a Middle East ally and in some trouble with Syria over the Lebanese crisis, Moscow decided to join hands with Sadat's most bitter foe and thus completely blind itself to the vast difference in ideology dividing the philosophies of the two diametrically opposed systems.

Not only that. What is worse for Moscow's prestige in the eyes of the majority of delegations, now assembled at this 31st session, which opened on Tuesday of this week, lies in the fact that it has associated itself as a proponent of the world's greatest instigator of international terrorism and assassinations. It is no secret that Qaddafi has been accused by both Egypt and Tunisia with being the initiator of plots to assassinate Sadat and Bourguiba. The captured assassins confessed to this fact, Qaddafi has also been charged with a plot to overthrow the Sudanese Government. Moreover, as the Israeli delegation here recently revealed, almost every hijacking crime during the past six years was perpetrated by the Libyan dictator and this is something the Soviet Union will have to face up to when the issue of international terrorism comes up for debate in the General Assembly.

Of course, it goes without saying that the USSR delegation, with an innocent posture and shamelessly, will do everything in its power to whitewash the charges that Israel and other missions here will level against Libya. But here it will not only have to face all the Western States but also China and those Arab countries who have fallen victim to Qaddafi's murderous intrigues.

That the Soviet Union had to stoop so low as to ally itself with the 'outcast' in the Arab world only goes to show how desperate the Kremlin leaders have become in their attempt to hold on to at least one area in the strategic Mediterranean basin -- even at the cost of alienating the other Arab nations, or perhaps, to spite them.

Throughout the years, Moscow has thrived on keeping aflame the Arab-Israeli conflict, hence its support of the PLO aims and its newly-established relationship with Libya, PLO's chief mainstay. However, events in the Middle East are taking on a new posture working against Soviet interests in the region.

The fact that Libya and the PLO, notorious for their murderous terroristic global activities, remain

USSR's aingle allies in the Arab world -- Iraq appears also to be drawing away from Moscow.
