JEWISH SUPPORT IN KEY STATES HELPED CARTER TO SLIM VICTORY

RABIN CONGRATULATIONS TO CARTER

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- Premier Yitzhak Rabin sent President-elect Jimmy Carter a cable of congratulations November 3 which said: "It is in the spirit of the deep friendship that binds our two peoples, that I extend to you warm congratulations...."

Rabin added that "In the tradition of the great office you are about to assume, America, I know, will continue along the road of building a better, a more peaceful and safer world for the benefit of all mankind...."

Earlier, in an interview, Rabin said he believed Carter would pursue the same traditional bipartisan policy of "understanding Israel's needs and positions and of giving Israel the aid which this country's situation makes necessary." The Premier also said he believes that Carter "understands our problems." Rabin also described President Ford as "a true friend of Israel" and said of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger that "We may remember with nostalgia the days of Kissinger."

Former Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said he believed there would be a year of confrontation with the new Administration. But Likud leader Menachem Beigin said 1977 need not be a year of American pressure on Israel if Israel launched an information drive within to remind Carter of his campaign promises.

HERZOG ACCUSES ARABS OF DUPLICITY

UNITED NATIONS (WNS) -- Chaim Herzog, Israel's Ambassador to the United Nations, accused the Arabs of a "most disgusting exhibition of double-talk, two-faced duplicity and unashamed hypocrisy" in their repeated attacks on Israel for its relations with South Africa.

Speaking in the General Assembly during the debate on South Africa's apartheid policy, Herzog declared that the Arab countries that accuse Israel of collaborating with apartheid and racism, themselves have connections with the South African government. He accused the Arabs of having "ignored the interests of the African world in order to advance their goal for the destruction of a member state (Israel)."

WASHINGTON (WNS) -- The election of the Presidency of Democratic Jimmy Carter on November 2 should mean continued strong support for Israel as well as other issues of Jewish concern.

The former Georgia governor stressed throughout his campaign that U.S. aid "must be responsive to Israel's needs" and that "Israel must feel secure in the support that it expects from America in order to take the necessary risks for peace." He also stressed that "the U.S. should not create the need for aid to Israel by eroding Israel's security through uncontrolled arms sales to Israel's adversaries."

Carter has opposed the Palestine Liberation Organization as "unrepresentative of the Palestinians" and is against their participation as "an equal partner" in any resumed Geneva peace conference. "Any movement towards a solution to the Palestinian problem must emanate first from the Palestinians themselves," he has said. He has also urged that "any emerging Palestinian leadership must recognize Israel's right to exist permanently and in peace as a Jewish State in the Middle East."

Carter has approved support of the Jackson-Vanik Amendment requiring increased emigration of Soviet Jews as a condition of U.S. trade benefits and credits for the Soviet Union. But he has continued to maintain that "diplomatic means which would preserve the honor and independence of Soviet leaders would be the best way of encouraging the Soviet liberalization of its emigration policies." He has opposed the Arab boycott, vowed to fight moves to expel Israel from the United Nations, opposed efforts to restore prayers in the schools and has opposed quotas while approving affirmative action

Day After Election

We woke up the day after election and nothing was changed.

That loud, obnoxious candidate who said the world would come to an end if the other fellow was elected wasn't telling the truth. As a matter of fact, he was a big liar. All is exactly as it was before.

The world is the same. There's unrest in Lebanon and South Africa. The Arabs are back to picking on Israel at the United Nations and American firms continue to ignore anti-boycott legislation.

Washington is about to re-convene under a lame-duck President, with strikes rampant and little talk of decreasing unemployment or combatting inflation. And believe it or not, it looks like an increase in taxes.

There is prosperity in the State of Nevada with the highest gambling take on record, while the jails are rotting away.

The County complains about the City, while increasing rates at Southern Nevada Memorial Hospital.

The City wants to oust the County from City Hall, and change the bus routes.

Here in our own Assembly District Five, registered voters returned to complacency, satisfied the right man was elected. The run we made was obliterated in the primary. All we wanted was to make the voters the boss. Evidently they wanted a leader instead. We'll see what they got when the legislature convenes in 1977. When the Las Vegas Sun said we were not qualified, we thought we had it made. Nobody pays any attention to the Sun. Looks like they ignored the ISRAELITE too.

It's those debates that disturbed us the most. Personally, we enjoyed every word. Those off-the-cuff misrepresentations were a delight to clock and tabulate.

It was when our good wife broke down and started sobbing, we really got upset at the TV screen. "What's wrong," we asked her? "It's so sad," she replied, "One of them has to lose."

This surprised us. We thought she became emotionally affected because one of them had to win. But no matter, life continues.

The joy of success for those elected means they will live off the fat of the land until their terms expire or are recalled. No matter, it will be business as usual. There may be some expanded activity, here and there, to make up for
