

OF THE STARS

LESLIE UGGAMS, JIM BAILEY, EDGAR BERGEN AT SAHARA

The holiday season is in full swing in the Sahara's Congo Room with a family entertainment package consisting of Leslie Uggams, Jim Bailey and Edgar Bergen.

Miss Uggams offers a selection of songs designed to appeal to every musical taste. The pure voice of the "Sing Along With Mitch" days is still there, tempered with the additional experience of her numerous nightclub, concert and stage appearances. A highlight of her performance is the "Cotton Club Revue" segment, which brings back the atmosphere of that famous Harlem nightspot of the Roaring '20's. Miss Uggams receives outstanding support from her own singers and dancers, along with the strong backing of the Jack Eglash Congo Room orchestra. The Incredible Jim Bailey is an apt name for this unique young man and the magic he projects. He creates a perfect illusion, down to the minutest detail of voice, makeup and costume, of Phyllis Diller, Barbra Streisand, Judy Garland or Peggy Lee, and he invariably leaves his audiences stunned with the realization of what is actually happening up there on stage. As if this is not enough, he returns for an equal segment as himself, displaying a fine, seasoned voice in a program of contemporary selections. His tasteful approach, be it a tender ballad or an up-tempo rouser, leaves the club patrons with a real appreciation of his unusual talent. Edgar Bergen is one of those rare performers whose name on the marquee is a guarantee of quality. From the early radio days, when he established ventriloquism as an important art form, Bergen has retained his position at the top of the ladder. His creations -- irreplaceable Charlie McCarthy, hayseed Mortimer Snerd and his old biddy Effie Klinker -- have become genuine American classics, bringing their lusty humor to millions of fans throughout the world.
