

Pray for the Peace

By Leonard R. Strelitz
(UJA General Chairman)

In this season of reckoning, let us recognize that the security of Israel is the security of all Israel. For as a new year approaches, let us remember that wherever we live, each Jew is responsible, one to another. For today, through community, conscience, tradition and faith, Judaism has become an ode to life.

As we begin our 30th year of partnership with the people of Israel, let us recall that a generation ago, beyond the darkness was a new dawn. By sanctifying life, by providing succor, the Jewish lifeline worked, vesting life with dignity and equality.

But as we prepare to sound the great Shofar

for freedom, there are still remnants of our people trapped in the land of our enemies -- in the Soviet Union, in Syria -- for whom Jerusalem is but a distant vision.

So as our day of remembrance approaches, let us all revere life. Let us affirm that we are all givers and takers of life. That we are Israel's rampart.

And in our partnership, as we prepare for Campaign '78, let us have the strength of our convictions...for convictions carry responsibilities for assuring the continuity of our Jewish lifeline.

The year 1978 will be a time of testing for the Jewish people; but it will also be a time of celebration. As it is written: "At 30, one is ready for full strength." This is our legacy; that is our Jewish future.

So together, let us help turn swords into plowshares. And let us pray for the peace of Jerusalem.

JERUSALEM -- Rachel Schwarz, a founder of the Hadassah Council in Israel, was recently honored by the city of Jerusalem, when Mayor Teddy Kollek made her a "Distinguished Citizen of Jerusalem."
