

Only in Vegas
By
Helene Stadler

From Danny Raskin's Listening Post in the Detroit Jewish News: While in town last week, Las Vegas-ite Sid Hudson, former Detroit, was guest of honor at a Detroit Businessmen's Group, City of Hope meeting, and as usual wherever he goes here, it was like old home week.

As 1978 National Honoree for the City of Hope, with his dinner scheduled for March 12 at the Las Vegas Hilton, Sid to many is still the same Sid Hudosh of years ago.

Now as "Mr. Las Vegas," Sid is widely recognized for his humanitarian ideals.

When approached by the heads of the National City of Hope, Sid balked at the limelight...but further consideration enveloped whereby a research project on ileitis has been started at the medical center.

One of Sid's family is afflicted with ileitis... Its cause and cure is worth everything to him... along with helping others with unfortunate catastrophic diseases.

The Jewish Advocate, described by the Boston Globe as the country's largest Anglo-Jewish weekly, celebrated its 75th anniversary August 18. Since 1902, it has been dedicated to Americanism, Judaism and Social Justice.

Those who attend holiday services at Temple Beth Shalom will be delighted by Cantor Kohn's choir under the direction of Maury King, and the outstanding solo renditions.

Barry Jacobsen has been appointed by Joe Behar to direct the new show "Nostalgia of Broadway" which Community Drama Workshop will put on in the fall. The group meets every Wednesday evening at 4201 W. Washington, All Saints Episcopal Church 7 - 9 p.m. Phone 647-1304.

Rheumatoid arthritis, one of the most serious forms of our nation's No. 1 crippling disease, can strike even in childhood with devastating effects. Find out the symptoms in The Arthritis Foundation's free leaflet "Arthritis in Children," available from the Nevada Chapter, 5030 Paradise Road.

A widespread fallacy is that "nothing much can be done" about arthritis. Actually medical science knows how to prevent arthritis disability and crippling. The Arthritis Foundation, reports, but most victims delay seeking proper medical care until the damage is done. To find out more, write for the free pamphlet -- "Arthritis - The Basic Facts," available free from the Nevada Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, 5030 Paradise Road.
