

OF THE STARS

MAC DAVIS, JOAN RIVERS AT MGM GRAND

Mac Davis, the "song painter" who has put together a Las Vegas show that is as dynamic as any showroom production in town, returns to the stage of the MGM Grand Hotel for another two-week engagement on October 13. Once again Mac will be sharing the plush Celebrity Room Stage with the hilarious Joan Rivers.

MAC

Though Mac always pleases his fans with the even-tempoed hits that he has written for himself and dozens of other stars, he has added a number of up-tempo tunes that set the stage a-rockin' and a-reelin'. Many of these he performs with the singing and dancing group "Strutt." He also does a swinging 60's medley that has proved to be a tremendous crowd-pleaser.

curtain she keeps her audience hysterically spellbound as they laughingly relate along with her to the day-to-day true stories that make up the lighter side of life.

which have been recorded by more than 50 artists including the King, Elvis Presley ("In the Ghetto"), are "Baby Don't Get Hooked on Me," "I Believe in Music," "Pickin' Up the Pieces," and "Watchin' Scotty Grow."

Joan Rivers, who recently completed editing the movie she wrote, RABBIT TEST, uses the personal anecdote as well as any comic ever has. From curtain to

The comedienne and two-time authoress is also one of the best known faces on TV having appeared on the Tonight Show as guest or co-host over 190 times in the last eight years.

Mac and Joan will share the stage twice nightly through October 26.

Dean Martin and the Goldiggers will follow in the Celebrity Room for one week starting October 27.
