

FERLIN HUSKY IN EMPIRE ROOM AT LANDMARK

FERLIN HUSKY, along with talented singing wife of 12 years, Marvis, are now at the Landmark in the Empire Showroom. Ferlin has a long list of hits that has crossed - over all the country and pop charts including, "Gone," and "Wings of a Dove."

Ferlin has brought a whole line-up of family entertainment to his show. They include the howlariou yockstar, Ben Sanders, better known to Las Vegas audiences as the "Fifth Avenue Country Boy," Vicki Bird & the Willowcreek Orchestra, the Rutherford Country Cloggers, and Nathan, "Little Elvis."

Nathan, "Little Elvis" who is but a mere 6 years old, holds the title for the youngest Elvis impersonator. He has appeared on the Phil Donahue Show, appeared with Bob Hope and been on the Merv Griffin Show among others. The Chicago-born lad went from "show and tell to pro" a short time ago. While at an Elvis convention with his mother, he got up during an Elvis film and started to mimick it -- an agent saw him, the crowd went wild cheering, and the rest is history!

The Rutherford

County Cloggers are eight teenagers (four of each), aged 12 to 16 years old who keep the art of Applachain Squair Dancing alive with their many well-timed steps and colorful costumes. They do not do the usual square dancing and the precision with which they move have proved a special treat to Las Vegas audiences.

Vicki Bird really knows how to sell a song and she just sings her heart out in "Country Jubilee." Vicki is the daughter of a coal miner and originates from West Virginia. She has performed at the Grand Ole Opry in Nashville, travelled with George Jones and has done concert date in Houston's Astrodome. Currently she is recording for AVCO records and is making her Las Vegas debut, as are the others except for Ben Sanders, the comedy star of the show, and the one and only, a legend in his own time, Ferlin Husky. He continually wows 'em with his strong, but gentle voice while shocking the crowd with his deep bass notes. Ferlin also makes 'em laugh with his subtle humor and impressions of Johnny Cash.

So for entertainment for the entire family, don't miss "Country Jubilee," with Ferlin Husky, Ben Sanders,

WAYNE NEWTON BACK AT DESERT INN WITH DAVE BARRY

Las Vegas' most popular entertainer has once again returned to the familiar setting of the Desert Inn and Country Club Crystal Room.

Wayne Newton, a "New Year Knockout Show," opens tonight for a three - week engagement with his comedy colleague Dave Barry and the Sizzling Jive Sisters.

A show which includes such favorites as "Stayin' Alive," and "Daddy Don't You Walk So Fast" can be handled better by none other than music man Don Vincent who directs the Carlton Hayes Orchestra.

Reservations can be made on a daily basis by contacting the hotel show reservations of-it's true.... Things will be fine in '79, at the new Desert Inn and Country Club.

LEWIS HACKETT SPLIT BILL AT SAHARA THRU JAN. 16

If first impressions mean anything, 1979 promises to be a blockbuster year for Hotel Sahara's Congo Showroom. The first week of the schedule has recorded capacity crowds in Nathan "Little Elvis," Vicki Bird and the Willowcreek Orchestra, and the Rutherford Country Cloggers. It is the family show at family showtimes, 4 p.m. and 8 p.m. (except Sunday) and priced right so the entire crew can come for a hand clappin' and foot stompin' good time!

the Jerry Lewis-Diahann Carroll 8 p.m. show, as well as the Buddy Hackett - Jack Jones midnight performance.

Jerry Lewis has clowned his way into the hearts of millions of Americans in three decades of headlining in films, TV, the stage and nightclubs. In Las Vegas, his Sahara milieu attracts fans from all over the world during his engagements.

With him is the stunningly beautiful Diahann Carroll, whose classy approach to a love ballad is equalled by her biting attack on the up-tempo standards.

The late show champion of Las Vegas has to be Buddy Hackett.

Jack Jones co-headlines with Buddy.
