Albert Einstein Day School

Albert Einstein Hebrew Day School is dedicated to excellence in education, and is a rapidly growing Hebrew Day School offering a blend of religious and secular courses. The school is concerned with the individual growth - emotional, spiritual and scholastic - of every student in its care.

But Albert Einstein Hebrew Day School's multi-phased program goes even beyond this. The school is vitally concerned with the growth and future of Judaism and Israel. Jewish education is a must for Jewish survival. To this end we must educate our children and inculcate in the Ahvat Yisroel, the love of Israel and Zion. We can no longer leave Jewish education to chance. Albert Einstein Hebrew Day School has the answer to this imperative.

Albert Einstein Hebrew Day School opens its doors to every child from the age of five and provides a religious and secular education from kindergarten through the seventh grade.

The calibre of education is such that the Albert Einstein graduate is thoroughly prepared for entrance into the finest schools. The curriculum includes a social studies program which integrates Jewish traditions and American civilization, the latest reading and science programs which allow students to advance at their own pace; audio lingual techniques; a comprehensive physical education program in the school's new gym; plus courses in Hebrew, Spanish and music. Armed with this blend of all-encompassing education, the child attending Albert Einstein receives an outstanding academic education and simultaneously receives a strong sense of identity, fair play and sportsmanship and Jewish understanding.

We invite you to call the school and become more acquainted with our comprehensive program.

CARTER SHOULD BRUSH HIS BROTHER BILLY

ATLANTA (WNS)-- President Carter is being urged to "disassociate himself and his Administration from the recent actions and derogatory statements" about Jews by his brother, Billy.

The demand came Jan. 11 from the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith whose regional office has criticized Billy Carter for sponsoring an official visit from Libya which is seeking to establish a Libyan-Georgia Friendship Society. Stuart Lewengrub, the ADL's regional director, also called "untrue and inane" Billy Carter's charge that Atlanta Mayor Maynard Jackson refused Jan. 10 to see the Libyan group because of "Jewish pressure." Lewengrub called the charge "the latest example of his (Billy Carter's) anti-Semitic insinuations." Lewengrub denies that the ADL told the Mayor who he should or should not meet. "It seems to us that Billy Carter is falling more and more into the pattern of blaming Jews for his own display of poor judgement," Lewengrub declared. "Billy would do better to take an objective look at the policies and practices of the Libyan government whose representatives he and his friends are hosting, their support of world-wide terrorism and their absolute hostility to the Middle East peace effort currently underway."

During a reception for the Libyan delegation Jan. 9, Ronnie Drandoss, national director of the Conference of Jewish Activists, a newly-formed group headed by Rabbi Meir Kahane which describes itself as "non-violent," disrupted the meeting by trying to read a statement denouncing President Carter. When guards tried to remove him, the businessmen prevented it and demanded to hear the statement. Lewengrub had reprimanded Billy Carter last month for using the terms "bastardized Jew" and "Pollack" during a fund-raising dinner for Phil Niekro, a sports figure of Polish descent.
