

Professional writing is being taught for the first time this spring as part of the UNLV English department's regular on-campus offerings. The class will meet Tuesday and Thursday from 4 - 5:15 p.m., beginning Jan. 30 and continuing until May 10. Registration is Jan. 25.

At UNLV "Beginning Karate" for adults Feb. 6 - March 29, and for youths (ages 5-13) Jan. 27 - March 17.

If you suffer from constant fatigue, common or migraine headaches, asthma or other more serious illnesses, the ultimate source of your disorder may be emotional stress, according to Biosynthesis Research Associates Incorporated (BRAI), a California-based counseling and research firm. The division of continuing education at UNLV will offer a spring workshop, "Stress: Positive Action." The course will investigate the cause of tensions resulting from stress within the individual and within his business environment.

Beginning January through April at UNLV continuing education sports and exercise programs include "Baseball Coaches' Workshop," "Youth Baseball Clinic," "Beginning Karate," "Body Mechanics," "Children's Exercises," "Parent and Child Developmental Exercise," plus courses in water safety and advanced life-saving, racquetball, golf, tennis and skiing.

The development of training programs to meet industrial needs will be taught through a spring UNLV continuing education program for industrial trainers, teachers and others interested in industrial education. It will be offered Feb. 3 - May 19 for three credits.
