device which could be operated after the 'mother ship' had returned to its base in Lebanon.

"This criminal attempt must be seen against the background of a series of related events. As will be recalled, the Israeli Navy foiled a similar PLO attempt against Israel civilians at the beginning of April when the 500-ton cargo ship Stephenie was intercepted off Israel's Mediterranean coast. The six heavily-armed terrorists aboard all admitted that they belong to Fatah, headed by Yassir Arafat, and that the object of their mission was to engage in mass murder.

"On 22 April 1979, a design of this kind took its tragic toll. On that occasion, four PLO terrorists landed by means of a rubber dinghy at Nahariya some six miles from the Lebanese border. As a result of the ensuing violence, four Israeli civilians, including two little sisters, died, and two other civilians were wounded.

"All these attempts are part of a concerted PLO campaign of violence which, as you noted in your statement to the Security Council on 31 May 1979, has a direct bearing on the situation in southern Lebanon, even though they take place outside the UNIFIL area of operations."

Ambassador Blum then cited the following murderous PLO onslaughts against civilians:

On 25 May, an explosion occurred in a supermarket in Jerusalem and one man was injured. On 28 May, an explosive device went off on a bathing beach in Haifa, injuring one woman. On 3 June, an explosion occurred in a bookstore in Jerusalem, and as a result three people were injured.

"As is its wont, the PLO boasted of its responsibility for all these incidents, within hours of their occurrence, through its news-agency in Lebanon, its radio station in Baghdad and in radio Damascus.

"Moreover, on 30 May, a cache of sabotage material was found near Har-Dov on the Lebanese border. The cache, apparently meant to be used by PLO criminals, included Kalachnikov assault rifles, Karl Gustav machine guns, hand grenades and several sabotage devices.

"Beyond the indiscriminate terror for its own sake, the purported aim of this campaign of violence by the PLO is to subvert the ongoing peace process in the Middle East.

"Given the true character and aims of the terrorist PLO, the Government of Israel is duty-bound, as I have indicated in previous letters, to take all measures necessary to protect the lives and safety of its citizens."

Ambassador Blum requested that his letter be circulated as an official document of the Assembly and of the Security Council.

PALESTINIANS JUST LIKE JEWS

ROME (WNS) -- President Allessandro Pertini of Italy has compared the situation of Palestinians with that of Jews before World War II. "Four million Palestinians today represent, to a certain degree, what Jews represented before the Second World War."

"It is absolutely necessary for us to understand and make every effort to solve this problem by peaceful means." The President's press office released the text of Pertini's remarks after he was quoted on Italian television.

ANTI-ISRAELI ARAB CONDEMNS EXECUTIONS

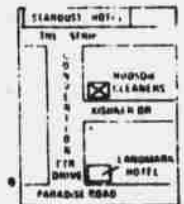

UNITED NATIONS (WUP) -- An anti-Israeli Arab-American has condemned Ayatollah Khomeini for permitting executions without trials.

Dr. Mohammad Mehdi, President of the American-Arab Relations Committee and notorious as an organizer of demonstrations against Zionist meetings, issued a release here this week in which he included the text of a critical cable he had sent to the Iranian Shiite leader.

Among other things, Mehdi urged Khomeini to try the accused "in open courts to which the international press should be invited as observers. As a Moslem, raised in the same Shiite persuasion as yourself," he stated, "I wish to exercise my religious obligation to urge people do do good, and enjoin them from doing evil. Executing people after secret trials and in haste," Mehdi charged, "is evil, and we strongly urge you to stop such trials immediately."
