

JEWISH NEWS BRIEFS

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- One man was seriously injured in an explosion near the Jerusalem railway station. In another incident, police dismantled explosives in a bus at a Jerusalem service station.

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- Jewish Defense League founder Meir Kahane was sentenced to three months in jail by an Israeli military court in Ramallah and given an additional nine-month suspended sentence. Kahane was convicted for violating a military government warning forbidding him to enter Hebron. Kahane, who lives in Kiryat Arba, the Jewish settlement next to Hebron, said "I will return to Hebron" after he leaves jail.

MONTREAL (WNS) -- Robert Stanfield, former head of the Progressive Conservative Party, said he will not meet with the Palestine Liberation Organization when he goes to the Middle East to study the feasibility of moving the Canadian Embassy in Israel from Tel Aviv to Jerusalem. During the meeting with the Canadian-Arab Federation he was told such a meeting could be arranged. Stanfield was named by Prime Minister Joe Clark to sound out Arab countries on the possible Embassy move. The move was promised by Clark during his recent successful election campaign.

NEW YORK (WNS) -- Three Orthodox Jewish groups have attacked as "blasphemous and sacrilegious" the new film by the Monty Python comedy group, "The Life of Brian." Rabbi Abraham Hecht, president of the Rabbinical Alliance of America, said "It's a vicious attack upon Judaism, the Bible and a cruel mockery of Christians as well." He was joined in his blast by the Union of Orthodox Rabbis of the United States and Canada and the Rabbinical

Council of the Syrian and Near Eastern Sephardic Community of America. The British film, parodies the misadventures of Brian Cohen a next-door neighbor of Jesus, who becomes mistaken for the Messiah.

NEW YORK (WNS) -- About 150 Blacks, American Arabs and their sympathizers staged a two-hour demonstration in front of the Israeli Consulate and the Israel Mission to the United Nations. Chanting such slogans as "Death to Israel, Death to Zionism, long live the PLO," the demonstrators said they were protesting "the Zionist racist pressure which resulted in the dismissal of Ambassador Andrew Young." The demonstration was sponsored by the Brooklyn-based Black United Fund whose leader, the Rev. Herbert Daughtry, organized demonstrations last year against Hasidic Jews in the Crown Heights section of Brooklyn.

OTTAWA (WNS) -- Canadian External Affairs Minister Flora MacDonald has protested to the Soviet Union over the "summary" expulsion of McGill University law professor Irwin Cotler from the USSR. Cotler was given power of attorney by Avital Shcharansky to act in behalf of her husband, Prison of Conscience Anatoly Shcharansky, now serving a 13-year sentence. MacDonald protested to a Soviet official the expulsion and the way it was done which she said was inconsistent with the Helsinki Accords and recent efforts to improve Canadian-Soviet relations.

NEW YORK (WNS) -- Increasing evidence of attempts to proselytize recently-arrived Soviet Jewish immigrants in the New York metropolitan area was reported by the Task Force on Missionary Activity of the Jewish Community Relations Council of New York. Dr. Seymour Lachman, Task Force chairman, said "ads have appeared in local Russian-language publications offering services to new immigrants, without indicating the fact that the sponsoring organizations appear to be Christian missionary groups."

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- Some 7,000 soldiers who were born in Israel cannot read a Hebrew newspaper, the Defense Ministry reported. It was responding to a question from Likud MK Moshe Katzav.

TORONTO (WNS) -- A tribunal of the Canadian Human Rights Commission has ordered a neo-Nazi group, the Western Guard, to stop sponsoring telephone hate messages aimed at Jews and other minorities. The group has arranged for recorded messages callers could hear by dialing a Toronto number which called for an all-white Canada, denounced leading local Jews and espoused white power.

NEW YORK (WNS) -- The Israel Histadrut Foundation, which mobilizes support for Histadrut institutions in Israel, has announced it has reached a cumulative total of $60 million in long-term commitments through its deferred giving program, such as bequests and trusts. Dr. Sol Stein, the foundation's president, said it has now set a goal of $70 million by Chanukah, 1980, the 60th anniversary of Histadrut in Israel.
