RICKLES IS SWEET AS PICKLES

MR. MAD

Perennial favorite Don Rickles takes over Hotel Sahara's Congo Showroom for a wild two - weeker with two lovely singing ladies, Marlene Ricci and Donna Theodore, sharing his spotlight for one week apiece. It has long been established that the real Rickles is nothing at all like the brash, crude, insulting tyrant who intimidates an entire audience twice a night. But it's that same loudmouth, bigoted monster who packs 'em in wherever he appears. Don's putdown humor is offered, as he puts it, to make fun of our prejudices by bringing them out in the open. The fact that a gigantic talent like Rickles can make each line hilarious is the secret of his success. Marlene Ricci is a lovely young talent who was "discovered" as a lounge singer by none other than Frank Sinatra. He was impressed enough to invite her to tour the country as his opening act, a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity which Marlene was quick to accept. The Don Rickles-Marlene Ricci show is presented for dinner patrons (8 p.m.) and for the cocktail crowd (midnight) through Oct. 10, when Donna Theodore replaces Marlene for Don's final week.
