A TRIBUTE TO LILLIAN & MORRIS SHENKER BY DEBRA AMIRA

To the applause of over 600 well-wishers, Morris & Lillian Shenker were recently presented with the American Jewish Committee's Institute of Human Relations National Award.

The gala event attended by Las Vegas celebrities, friends and honored out-of-town guests was held at the Dunes Hotel & Country Club where Shenker is Chairman of the Board and Mrs. Shenker is vice president for corporate expansion.

The award which honors achievement in civic and community affairs and in the struggle against prejudice & bigotry was presented by Hilton Hotel executive vice president Henri Lewin.

A glowing testimonial was given by Jerome Mack, Vice Chairman Valley Bank of Nevada who cited Shenker's rise from a humble birth and childhood in Russia to the pinnacles of success in the American business community. Beginning as an immigrant student in this country, Shenker eventually became famous in the field of law, particularly criminal law and has been recognized and honored by universities and bar associations throughout the United States. He was 1 of the persons responsible for the creation of a college for defense attorneys in Texas. He is a regent there.

Mack also enumerated Mrs. Shenker's contributions to civic religious & philanthropic organizations.

Keynote speaker was former Undersecretary of State for Middle Eastern Affairs, Joseph Sisco, who delved into the current Iranian crisis.

Many came to pay tribute including former governor Mike O'Callaghan and Mayor Pro Tem Ron Lurie who issued a proclamation making Sunday, November 18 1979, Morris & Lillian Shenker Day.

A truly deserved accolade to a truly deserving couple.
