The final engagement of 1979 for the lady who made her debut at the Grand in April, sees seating requests once again reaching record levels.

LOCAL STUDENTS JOIN

HUMAN RELATIONS CLUBS

Human Relations Clubs, first established in 1971, bring together students of different social, economic, ethnic and educational backgrounds to allow them the opportunity to share their experiences and problems. This open exchange of information provides the basis for mutual understanding and resolution of campus difficulties.

Sponsored by the

Clark County School District Human Relations Office, clubs are active in sixth grade centers and secondary schools. Currently, 137 junior high school students hold membership in Human Relations Clubs at their schools.

All the junior high clubs engage in fund raising, community service, cultural education and social activities.

The Liberace Foundation Concert Series will present four outstanding Sunday matinee concerts at Artemus W. Ham Concert Hall in January of 1980, each personally introduced by Liberace. Proceeds will go to the University of Nevada, Las Vegas, to be used to finance scholarships or other forms of tuition assistance for deserving music students. The Foundation has guaranteed the UNLV Music Department a $10,000 endowment.
