"TOP BANANA" PEELS OFF UNION PLAZA

One of the featured songs in the Union Plaza Hotel's brand new production of "Top Banana" is Johnny Mercer and Harold Alden's "Accentuate The Positive."

And that's exactly what the hotel at Number One Main Street is doing in this musical comedy -- accentuating the positive delights of the newly revised art form of burlesque. Starring Irving Benson, the show plays nightly for an 8 p.m. dinner and 11:45 cocktail audience.

Also starring is Gary Marshal, Rusty Blitz, Milton Frome, Jimmy Casanova, Bart Williams, Melissa Organ, Dester Maitland, Alfred Desio and Diana Charles. Adding their beauty and talent as the "Burlesk Cuties" are Diana Saunders, Siob'han O'Carrol, Doreen Alderman, Lori Oliver and Ruth Ward.

Irving Benson plays Pinky Biffle, the burlesque star who becomes the hottest attraction on T.V. in the show that Sloate brought to the Plaza to "reacquaint old fans and to introduce a whole new generation to the delights of burlesque."

"There's an entire generation," says Sloate, "who haven't seen all those wonderful old blackouts, bits and sketches that were old burlesque... and in this show there's a great deal of old burlesque comedy that is priceless and new to them."

The songs, too, are priceless -- audiences are going to be treated to some of Mercer's very best, including

"Man of the Year," "Top Banana," "You Must Have Been A Beautiful Baby," "Fools Rush In," "Blues in the Night," "Accentuate the Positive," "Meet Miss Blendo," "Something's Gotta Give," and "Too Marvelous For Words."
