RICH LITTLE STARS AT MGM

LAS VEGAS -- Rich Little will be sharing the stage with a very special guest, his longtime friend Suzanne Somers, when he opens his next two-week engagement at the MGM Grand, March 27. Miss Somers will be making her Las Vegas nightclub debut in the hotel's famed Celebrity Showroom as co-headliner with the "man of a thousand voices."

Not only will the engagement mark her Vegas debut, but also the initial release and previewing of her first major motion picture, "Nothing Personal."

The film will be previewed by a host of media representatives in the Grand's plush Hotel Theater shortly after her stage opening.

Rich will be celebrating his second year with the giant resort-complex and more of his zany impressionistic goings-on are expected. His act includes everything from a host of singing impressions, to a combination film and live interview between Richard Nixon and Jimmy Carter, through tributes to celebrity greats like Bing Crosby, Humphrey Bogart, Gary Cooper, Clark Gable and John Wayne.

The Rich Little/Suzanne Somers show will be seen twice nightly through April 9.

Donna Summer springs back into the room for one week immediately following.
