

JEWISH NEWS BRIEFS

BONN (WNS) -- Rep. John Anderson (R, Ill.), an independent candidate for the Presidency, said here that security is the justification for Israel's settlements on the West Bank. In an interview with Die Welt, he said that even Egyptian President Anwar Sadat saw some justification for the settlements on security grounds. Anderson, who was in West Germany after visiting Israel and Egypt, said there is no reason why 14,000 Israeli settlers could not live peacefully side - by - side with the Arabs on the West Bank. However, he noted that the Labor Party is much more flexible about territorial compromise with the Arabs than is the government of Premier Menachem Begin.

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- The Supreme Court has ordered Interior Minister Yosef Burg to put daylight saving time into effect as of August 2. Burg, a member of the National Religious Party, and other members of the Orthodox religious establishment have strongly objected because it means observant Jews will have to rise an hour earlier for their morning prayers and because the Sabbath will end later.

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- Premier Menachem Begin, upon leaving Hadassah Hospital recently, said that if the Arab states recognize Israel with Jerusalem as its capital they could have "20 flags flying in Jerusalem." He made the remark when asked about Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's recent statement that it would be in Israel's interest to have Arab flags flying over the Moslem holy sites.

TEL AVIV (WNS) -- Energy Minister Yitzhak Modai denied a report that Israel had discovered oil shale in the Negev, near Arad, capable of meeting the country's energy needs for the next 10 years. He said while there were deposits of shale in the Negev the process of converting it to oil was expensive and it was not known whether such a project would be economically feasible.

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- The price of bread went up recently by an average of 110 percent as the government cut its subsidy. It is the first time the price of bread has been raised in nine months. Premier Menachem Begin had held off the cut in the subsidy because he felt it would hurt low income families the most.

LOS ANGELES (WNS) -- Max Kampelman, co - chairman of the Committee on Security and Cooperation in Europe, has promised that Soviet Jewry will be on the American delegation's agenda at the Madrid Conference in November where the Helsinki Accords will be reviewed. "We intend to emphasize human rights and we intend to name names," he told a regional conference on the accords here.

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- David Kimche, a British born former journalist and author, who has been a senior official of Moswad, Israel's intelligence agency, became director general of the Foreign Ministry, replacing Yosef Ciechanover.

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- Israeli authorities were warning against a new wave of terrorism by the Palestine Liberation Organization. The public was urged to be on the alert for suspicious looking objects on roads and public places.

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- Eliahu Ben-Elissar, Israel's Ambassador to Egypt, said that he was dissatisfied that Egyptian - Israeli normalization of relations was moving slower than expected. But he said he was confident that Israel's expectations would be met. Ben-Elissar, accompanied by his wife, Nitza, drove to Jerusalem and back to Cairo in his own car, the first time a car with Egyptian diplomatic license plates was seen in Jerusalem.
