

Rosh Hashana 5741

BY RABBI MARC H. TANENBAUM

"This is the day of the creation of the world. This is the day on which all of the creatures of the earth stand under judgement."

These are phrases from the Mahzor - the Hebrew prayer book that is used for the services of the Jewish people on Rosh Hashonah, the Jewish New Year, which began at sundown

Wednesday evening.

The High Holidays of Rosh Hashonah, climaxed by Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement, are solemn days that express the universal human need for self - correction, for taking inventory of one's life, and then seeking through fasting and repentance to change one's individual and group existence for the better.

More so than perhaps in other years, Rosh Hashonah in this year of experiencing new outbursts of Klan and Nazi bigotry, Abscam corruptions, Billygate greed and selfishness, makes us highly conscious that the ideas and values of moral judgement, confession for wrong doing, and determination to change for the better are more than simple religious pieties. These spiritual disciplines are the very pivot of a just and civil society.

May each of you be inscribed for a good, and above all, a peaceful New Year!
