

POPE BLAMES CREATION OF ISRAEL IN PALESTINIAN PLIGHT

ROME (WNS) --- Pope John Paul II blamed the plight of the Palestinian people on the creation of Israel. "The Jewish people, a people with a tragic experience linked to the extermination of so many sons and daughters and pushed by a desire for security, gave birth to the State of Israel," he told some 150,000 persons at an outdoor mass at Otranto, in southern Italy, marking the 500th anniversary of the Turkish massacre

there. "But at the same time a sad condition was created for the Palestinian people who were in conspicuous part excluded from their homeland." The Pope also said that Jerusalem, rather than being what it is today, the object of contestation and division, becomes the focus toward which Christians, Jews and Moslems look and around which all feel themselves brothers."
