"I believe our government policy; state and federal, should be to fight inflation, reduce tax rates, and end bureaucratic excesses. To foster a climate of maximum individual liberty and freedom of choice. Our policy should be to balance the budget not through higher taxes, but through spending restraints. Our working men and women should have the right to keep and use the money they earn. We must restore the family, the neighborhood, the community and the workplace as vital alternatives to the present ever expanding government bureaucracy."
