

JEWISH NEWS BRIEFS

NEW YORK (WNS) -- Dr. Victor Brailovsky, a leading Jewish activist in the Soviet Union, was arrested in Moscow, according to the Student Struggle for Soviet Jewry and the Union of Councils for Soviet Jewry. The 45-year-old cyberneticist is editor of the Jewish Samizdat journal, "Jews in the USSR," and organizer of the unofficial weekly seminar for Jewish refusenik scientists.

ROME (WNS) -- The Italian Jewish community has urged major Jewish organizations to have "second thoughts" about a proposed plan aimed at reducing the high rate of drop-outs among Jews leaving the Soviet Union. The Board of Deputies of Italian Jews, the umbrella organization of the Jewish communities, has asked the Council of Jewish Federations not to approve substituting Naples for Vienna as a transit point for Jews leaving the USSR. The Naples plan is favored by the Jewish Agency because Soviet Jews are only allowed to stay 24 hours in Vienna and it would thus have more time to convince them in Naples to go to Israel.

UNITED NATIONS (WNS) -- Israel introduced a draft resolution calling on all Middle East countries "to convene at the earliest possible date a conference with a view to negotiating the multilateral treaty establishing a nuclear weapon-free zone in the Mideast." Ambassador Aryeh Eilan, in presenting the proposal to the General Assembly's First Committee (political), said the war between Iraq and Iran "bears witness to major and direct threats to international peace and security with implications for the world as a whole."

TEL AVIV (WNS) -- A study made by the Hebrew University indicates that the world Jewish population is under 10 million, not the 11 million commonly believed, and will drop to no more than eight million by the end of the century. Prof. Roberto Recchi, who has studied Jewish demographic changes, said the Jewish population will continue to decline in the 21st century noting that Israel is the only country where there is not a declining Jewish birth rate.
