

DAYAN WANTS U.S. TO EXERCISE POWER

NEW YORK (WN) -- East to bring peace a great and peaceful Former Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan has declared that the United States as a superpower has the responsibility to use its power in the Middle East to bring stability to the region. "It is essential for the Middle East and for the entire world for the U.S. to show that it is not only Jewish Appel mid-Atlantic regional conference. Dayan stressed that "the American presence in Egyptian military bases is good for Egypt, for Israel, for the world."

He said he hopes "the U.S. would try to influence France not to build installations for nuclear weapons for Iraq." Dayan also called for the strengthening of the partnership between Israel and American Jewry. He said particularly needed was the transmission of Jewish values and a sense of global Jewish unity to the new generation of American Jews.

"It is a matter of strength through continuity," he said, "a matter of helping the younger generation to remain Jewish and to care for their fellow Jews throughout the world." and to maintain public order and if this is kept "no soldieres will be seen on the streets," Eitan said. He said the soldiers who fired live ammunition -- rather than rubber bullets sometimes used to disperse rioters -- were acting according to regulations and defending themselves. Most of the wounded were shot in the leg. But Acting Mayor Aude Rantissi of Ramallah, where nine of the youths were injured, charged that the soldiers "shot to kill."

TENSION CONTINUES ON WEST BANK

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- Tension continued to run high on the West Bank as local Arab leaders protesting the wounding of 10 Arab youths, three of them women, by Israeli troops in Ramallah and el Biran.

Chief of Staff Gen. Raphael Eitan defended the troops' action following rock throwing incidents in the two towns. The sole purpose of the army is to
