HECHT FAMILY SYNAGOGUE DEDICATED THIS SUMMER

NEW YORK -- The Hecht Family Synagogue, which will serve students, faculty and visitors at the Hebrew University's Mount Scopus Campus, will be dedicated this summer during a week-long celebration of the University's return to its original home overlooking the Old and New Cities of Jerusalem.

Eleven years ago, Dr. Alan Hecht of Chicago, Ill., while a student at the Hebrew University, conceived the need for a synagogue on Mount Scopus.

The Hebrew University had found its original home on the ancient Hill of the Watchmen overlooking the Old City of Jerusalem, but was unable to use the campus after the War of Independence in 1948 because of Jordan's refusal to abide by the cease fire agreement. It was not until 1967 that Israel was able to return to the campus and begin a massive reconstruction campaign to reestablish Mount Scopus as the University's main campus.

Martin Hecht, of Cape Girardeau, Mo., Dr. Alan Hecht's father, undertook a fundraising campaign to create a synagogue for the newly-rebuilt campus, a project which received the enthusiastic support of Louis Hecht, Alan's grandfather and Chic Hecht, his uncle. The building will be dedicated June 28 through July 4, which celebrates the completion of the University's move back.

For further information about the Hecht Synagogue, contact the American Friends of the Hebrew University, No. 1 North LaSalle Street, Suite 1965 Chicago, Ill. 60602; telephone (312) 236 - 6939.
