

TOO EARLY TO SAY ON FRENCH GOV.

WASH. (WNS) -- Alain de Rothschild, president of the Representative Council of Jewish Organizations of France (CRIF), said that it is too early to forecast the attitude of the French Government under Socialist President Francois Mitterrand, who was elected.

But he hoped that it will have a "style"

that is "warmer and friendlier" to Israel.

De Rothschild spoke here on the fifth and concluding day of the 75th annual convention of the American Jewish Committee. He said that the position of the French Government will depend upon the outcome of the Parliamentary elections this June.

De Rothschild said that French Jews did not vote as a single bloc in the Presidential elections but that CRIF did ask for statements from all the candidates on issues of Jewish concern.

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- Moshe Sasson, Israel's new Ambassador to Egypt, its second since diplomatic relations were established in 1979, presented his credentials to President Anwar Sadat. The formal, ordinarily routine, diplomatic ritual was conducted in a manner, and with media coverage, that indicated to Israeli embassy sources in Cairo that Sadat went out of his way to demonstrate his commitment to the normalization of relations with Israel, despite the current tension between Israel and Syria. Sasson was also given a private audience with Sadat which lasted 40 minutes, twice the usual time, and was attended by Foreign Minister Kamal Hassan Ali. The three engaged in lively conversation in Arabic, a language in which Sasson is fluent.
