ISRAEL AND EGYPT AGREE TO START AUTONOMY TALKS SOON

WEIZMAN WANTS "PALESTINIAN ENTITY" ON WEST BANK

TEL AVIV (WNS) -- In his first public appearance in many months, former Defense Minister Ezer Weizman said the time has come for Israel to consider recognizing a "Palestinian entity" on the West Bank and the Gaza Strip. "The Palestinians are there. Read the Camp David accords," Weizman urged in an interview on Israel television with noted Arab affairs expert Prof. Moshe Shamir.

It said that there should be an Israeli withdrawal and a handing over to a Palestinian entity. I am not scared of that," he declared. Adding that political leaders should learn how to take advantage of breakthroughs on the diplomatic front, just as army generals succeed by utilizing breakthroughs opening up on the military front.

Weizman suggested that Egyptian President Anwar Sadat's visit to Jerusalem in 1977 had been such a political and diplomatic breakthrough which has not been sufficiently utilized to bring about a wider peace. He named Moshe Arens, chairman of the Knesset Foreign Affairs and Security Committee, as an example of Likud or Herut members who originally were opposed to the Camp David agreements but nevertheless stayed on in official positions (and by inference, did not make sufficient use of the political

BEGIN, SADAT SAY TALKS RESUME SEPT. 23RD

TEL AVIV (WNS) -- Premier Menachem Begin and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat announced recently, following two days of talks in Alexandria, that the autonomy talks would resume Sept. 23. They said the fixing of this date was the most important achievement of their meetings. There was hope that the talks could be completed by the end of the year, although Begin added he could not guarantee that.

Reports indicated that the talks would begin in Egypt with the participation of an American representative, according to Interior Minister Yosef Burg, who accompanied Begin to Alexandria. Burg said the talks would be "continual" and "at a senior level."

In Washington, the State Department welcomed the development on the autonomy talks. Department spokesman Dean Fischer said, "We want to stress that as a participant in the Camp

It's Good to be Home

BY JAY TELL

It began as more than our usual annual vacation.

'Twas time for a summer flirtation with actually living in Mexico for this writer, our adventurous spouse, and our two eager daughters, nearly 11 and 5.

Alice, Robyn, Jennifer and yours truly began our journey with a Pina Colada - drenched week in Puerto Vallarta (with a swim - up bar in the pool), but finished (almost literally) our sojourn (and nearly our lives) 25 miles off the coast of Mazatlan - adrift on a crippled yacht.

In between, Robyn and Jennifer attended the world famous American School of Guadalajara, learning Spanish, arts and crafts, and tennis Monday through Friday. Our girls make friends quickly. One "amiga," sweet Katie, was daughter of the American Consulate. She showed Robyn and her kid sister the true definition of warm hospitality in Mexico.

Side trips included "typical" colonial-style villages, such as Melaque, an ocean pueblo with incredible postcard scenery, warm and clear tropical waters, gentle waves, clean beaches,
