in the best interests of the United States to protect Saudi Arabia from external aggressors in the region, particularly the Soviet Union and its surrogates. And when the tally was taken in the Senate, solons felt it was necessary to maintain ties with the Saudis since a defeat would have alienated further Saudi relations with the U.S. In other words, the Reagan Administration, making the weapons sale a test of Saudi friendship, decided to sell out.

We applaud the 48 Senators who voted against the sale. Especially our own Senator Howard Cannon who expressed strong feelings that the AWACS could eventually fall into enemy hands. Senator Cannon will always have our overwhelming support. Bravo.

CABOT AWARD CAUSES FUROR

NEW YORK (WNS) -- Jacobo Timerman, a former Argentine journalist and human rights advocate who was expelled from that country after being imprisoned for two - and - a - half years, received the prestigious Maria Moors Cabot Award at Columbia University. Two other winners of the award are Karen DeYoung, foreign editor of the Washington Post and Marlise Simons, a Latin American correspondent for The Post and Newsweek magazine.

The award to Timerman caused a furor in Argentina which claims that his account of his imprisonment and torture by the governing military junta is not true. Several previous Argentine winners of Cabot prizes protested the selection of Timerman.

TEENS TO SPEND YEAR IN ISRAEL

NEW YORK -- "The best year of our lives."

That's the way two teenagers describe the forthcoming year they will spend in Israel on the first United Synagogue Year Program in Israel which is a one year program of study, service, leadership training.

And added Leah Beinstock of Forest Hills, N.Y., and Stephen Gaerber of Vancouver, B.C., "we wanted to take a year off and do a little more with our lives. As a Jew, Israel is a wonderful place to live and learn."

The two left this past week with 19 other North American students for Jerusalem on the USY Year Program in Israel. There in the capital of the Jewish state, they will engage in an intensive study period at the Mount Scopus Campus of the Hebrew University. In addition to the regular fall semester at the University, two mini- semesters have been developed by the University especially for the year program.

Stephen Gaerber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Gaerber of Vancouver and a graduate of Eric Hamber High School, said he also looked forward to living and working on Kibbutz Saad, a religious kibbutz in the Negev. Stephen attended the Beth Israel Hebrew School and his mother, Marilyn Gaerber, was the first woman president of the Jewish Community Center in Vancouver.

Both Stephen and Leah attended the USY Israel Summer Pilgrimage and they said that it intensified their desire to spend a year of study and travel in the Jewish state.
