

PARIS (WNS) -- The Paris memorial to the Unknown Jewish Martyr celebrated its 25th anniversary recently. The memorial contains the tomb of an unknown Jewish martyr and also houses one of the world's largest collection of archives and historic documents covering the Nazi era and World War II. European Parliament chairman, Simone Veil herself a survivor of Auschwitz, called for a contribution of historic research on the Nazi period and the Holocaust to provide "evidence to counter madmen's claims that the concentration camps had never existed."

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- Some 2500 university students from developing towns throughout Israel are involved this year in Jewish Agency sponsored programs to aid youth in their home towns, it was reported. The scheme, conceived several years ago by Agency chairman Leon Dulzin provides for the Agency to finance the students' university studies for which, in return, the students must devote several hours a week to coaching and youth work among the youngsters in their home towns.

PARIS (WNS) -- Interior Minister Gaston Deferre has pledged the French government's determination to dismantle "once and for all" neo-Nazi organizations or groups still active in France. Deferre, speaking on Armistice Day to a gathering of French War Veterans, said, "I shall feel satisfied that the neo-Nazis are no longer dangerous only when those responsible for the Rue Copernic bomb attack will be arrested and brought to trial."
