NEW YORK -- President Ronald Reagan has been selected as the recipient of the 17th Charles Evans Hughes Gold Medal of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, the organization's highest award, it was announced today by Irving Mitchell Felt, national chairman of NCCJ's Executive Board.

Reagan will be presented with the gold medal at the Charles Evans Hughes Gold Medal dinner on March 23, 1982 here in the Grand Ballroom of the New York Hilton.

Felt, who will chair the dinner, said that the Hughes Gold Medal is given "for courageous leadership in governmental, civic and humanitarian affairs." It is named for Chief Justice Hughes, one of the founders of the NCCJ in 1928 and it was first presented in 1965.

Felt noted that "although three Presidents of the United States have previously received the gold medal, this is the first time that an incumbent President of the United States will receive our Charles Evans Hughes Gold Medal."

Two Supreme Court

Justices and two Secretaries of State are among the other gold medal recipients in the 16-year history of the award.

CBS News Correspondent Walter Cron-
