OPERATION NAMED "PEACE FOR GALILEE"

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- Large scale Israeli armored forces, spearheaded by tanks and said to include paratroop units entered Lebanon in what was described officially as an operation aimed at pushing Palestinian terrorist forces beyond artillery and rocket range of northern Israel.

The invasion, which reportedly swept through the zones in southern Lebanon held by the United Nations Interim Force in Lebanon (UNIFIL) followed two days of intensive Israeli air and sea bombardment of Palestinian targets in Lebanon, including Beirut. The air attacks were ordered in retaliation for the assassination attempt which severely wounded Israel's Ambassador to Britain, Shlomo Argov, in London June 3. Israel holds the Palestine Liberation Organization responsible.

The Palestinians responded by launching artillery and rocket attacks on Israeli towns and settlements causing extensive damage but only light casualties, according to official reports. The Israeli ground push into Lebanon was under-

of Smoking*

A bum was reaching for a long cigarette butt outside a strip hotel in Las Vegas the other day, when he spotted a shiny quarter in the gutter. He lit up the butt, walked into the casino and plopped his quarter into the first 25¢ slot he spotted. He pulled the handle and three bells appeared in the window, which caused the slot to spit out 18 quarters or $4.50.

He walked up to the keno counter and wrote out a $3.00, 8-spot ticket. He sat down in the plush keno lounge and ordered a glass of wine. The waitress brought the wine and he tipped her 25 - cents. He sipped the wine and waited for the game to begin. The keno board began lighting up and when all 20 numbers appeared, the bum looked up. Sure enough he had all eight numbers on his ticket. He took his glass of wine up to the keno counter and calmly asked what was the payoff.

"My G-D," shouted a keno ticket writer, "do you know what you won?" The bum said he had no idea. The gal said you just won $50,000.00.

The bum collapsed and was revived by smelling salts. Now the area was in a frenzy. The hotel president and casino manager invited the fellow to stay at one of their luxury suites. The advertising and promotion people started taking pictures and interviewing the derelict for publicity value.

They all wanted to know what he did for a living. He said he traveled a lot. Then they wanted to know what he would do with his wind-fall.

The bum thought for awhile and said he probably would take a long bath and then have some food delivered to his room.

"Other than that," he stated, "one thing's for sure, I ain't giving up smoking."

Nobody knew what he meant but us.
