

REAGAN DENIES GIVING ISRAEL

Haig reportedly accepted the Israeli view that such a signal would encourage the Palestine Liberation Organization to continue fighting and thus prolong the conflict in Lebanon.

But when he was asked about the Speakes' statement, Reagan replied: "I think also his (Speakes) not having heard the original -- the conversation between Prime Minister Begin and myself, that what he (Speakes) called a promise actually was in a discussion in which, to be more accurate, the Prime Minister had said to me, that they didn't want to (go into west Beirut), and that they had not wanted to from the beginning."

The President refused to condemn the Israeli invasion into Lebanon, and stressed that "we were not warned or notified of the invasion." But he noted that "there had been a breaking of the cease-fire which has held for about 11 months" and for which he praised special U.S. envoy Philip Habib highly for establishing and helping to maintain. Reagan noted that "we have a situation in Lebanon, in which there was a force, the P.L.O., literally a government within a government, and with its own army. And they had pursued aggression themselves across the border by way of rocket firing and artillery barrages."

Earlier, State Department spokesman Dean Fischer emphasized the importance of "all parties observing the cease-fire so that the political dialogue can continue and further loss of life can be averted." He denied a report in the Sunday Times of London that Saudi Arabia had threatened the U.S. with an oil embargo and financial and diplomatic sanctions unless the Israelis were persuaded to withdraw their forces surrounding Beirut. When asked to comment on Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak's charge that the U.S. revealed "a lack of firmness" toward Israel in the Lebanese crisis, Fischer said he believed the U.S. and Egyptian governments "remain in basic accord on objectives in the Middle East."

"LOVE" AT THE LANDMARK

When Lovelace Watkins opened at the Landmark Hotel's Empire Showroom 4 months ago, he said he was going to make Las Vegas his base of operations in conquering his native America and he has lived up to his word.

The Lovelace Show, with special guest star comedian Bernie Allen

(of Allen and Rossi fame), has been extended indefinitely. At only $14.95 plus tax which includes two cocktails, the 2-hour plus show is an entertainment bargain at a time of $30 and $40 show tabs.

"Love," as his fans call him, has a stage presence that's been compared by critics to Harry Belafonte and Tom Jones. Frank Sinatra was quoted in Sepia Magazine recently saying "...Lovelace is the Sinatra of the next generation." Love's appearance with Sinatra at the Aladdin Theatre for the Performing Arts last month for a benefit brought the house down.

The world class entertainer never leaves the showroom without several standing ovations.

Showtimes are 9 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday (dark Monday) with midnight shows Friday and Saturday.
