PAT BENDORF FILES FOR SCHOOL BOARD F

Pat Bendorf, Clark County's 1980 Education Mother of the Year, will seek the District F Board of School Trustees seat currently held by Tom Semmens.

Bendorf believes that Clark County needs more board members who have children attending the District's schools; that discipline needs to be improved, and that open dialogue should be established among students, parents and school administrators, that higher academic standards need to be implemented; that more efficient utilization of facilities, resources, manpower and programs can insure quality education for all children in Southern Nevada.

An 18 year resident of Las Vegas, Pat is active in school and community affairs serving on the Nevada State Association for Children with Learning Disabilities, The Coalition for Handicapped Children's Education (CHANCE) and is currently a parent advisor to the Clark County School District. She is also a member of The Council for Exceptional Children and Southern Nevada Association for the Handicapped.

Bendorf attended Northern Montana College and the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. She has held various management positions with a large corporation which has its headquarters in Las Vegas. A member of Christ the King Catholic Community Church, she resides at 6280 S. El Camino Rd. with husband Jerry, a Captain in the Clark County Fire Department, and daughters Jamie and Bobbie, who attend District schools.

MARION BENNETT SEEKS DISTRICT 6 RE-ELECTION

MARION BENNETT

Assemblyman Marion Bennett, chairman of the Health and Welfare Committee, announced he will seek reelection to the Nevada legislature representing District 6.

Bennett, pastor of Zion Methodist Church, has served in the legislature since 1972. He has chaired the Health and Welfare Committee during four of his five terms in the Assembly.

During the 1981 session Bennett also served on the Commerce Committee and the Labor and Management Committee. He presently serves on the legislative interim committee studying care facilities for the handicapped.

Bennett is former chairman of the Assembly Committee on Economic Development and Tourism.

"The 1983 legislature will face tough decisions because of the state of our economy and limited financial resources," Bennett said. "But this does not mean that we must sacrifice the quality of our lives."

Bennett said he will work to roll back the 5.75 per cent sales tax, and will support legislation to assist senior citizens with utility bills and for mandatory insurance coverage for treatment of alcohol and drug abuse.

In the past Bennett has worked for funding for day care centers for low income working mothers, the food stamp program for Nevada, funds for more job opportunities for young Nevadans through the New Careers Program, stringent consumer protection laws, funds for handicapped children and adults who are cared for at home and the Fair Rental Housing Act.

Bennett was given the Distinguished Nevadan Award by the University of Nevada, Las Vegas in 1981.

He is chairman of the board of directors of the Nevada Economic Development Company, chairman of the Westside Development Commission, and serves on the Economic Opportunity Board of Clark County. He is also a director of United Way and treasurer of the Marion Bennett Youth Program.

Bennett, 47, lives at 911 Gold Hill Avenue.

MARC RISMAN RUNS FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL

MARC RISMAN

Marc Risman, Republican candidate for the Nevada State Attorney General's office, formally announced his candidacy last month at the MGM.

Risman, a local Las Vegas attorney, was introduced by the Honorable William Saxbe, former United States Attorney General, United States Senator, and U. S. Ambassador to India.

Risman has already won the endorsements of several national conservative political organizations. He is running for the office of Attorney General because, "I believe the office needs a hard working individual who has the ability and energy to implement innovative programs that will result in a safer Nevada. We must redirect our state to its traditional values and return the function and purpose of the Attorney General's office to the support of local law enforcement and the immediate needs of all of Nevada's citizens; and once more make our homes, schools, businesses and streets safe."

A man who has dedicated much of his time to volunteer legal work with the Vietnam Veterans of America, the Las Vegas Jazz Society, is an active member of the Nevada Junior Chamber of Commerce, and has served as a member of the board of directors for the Clark County Republican Men's Club. Risman has demonstrated his desire to become involved.

Last September Risman was a delegate on the U.J.A. President's Mission to Israel.

FLYING WITH INFANT

Flying with an infant can be simple and inexpensive. The Airlines now realize the fact of childbirth and have made arrangements that take much of the hassle and expense out of traveling with infants. On most domestic flights, you can bring along one infant at no extra charge. For international flights, figure 10% of your fare as the cost for the baby, a fee that does not entitle the baby to a seat if the plane is full. If you're traveling with more than one infant, each additional ticket will be half fare and entitles you to another seat.

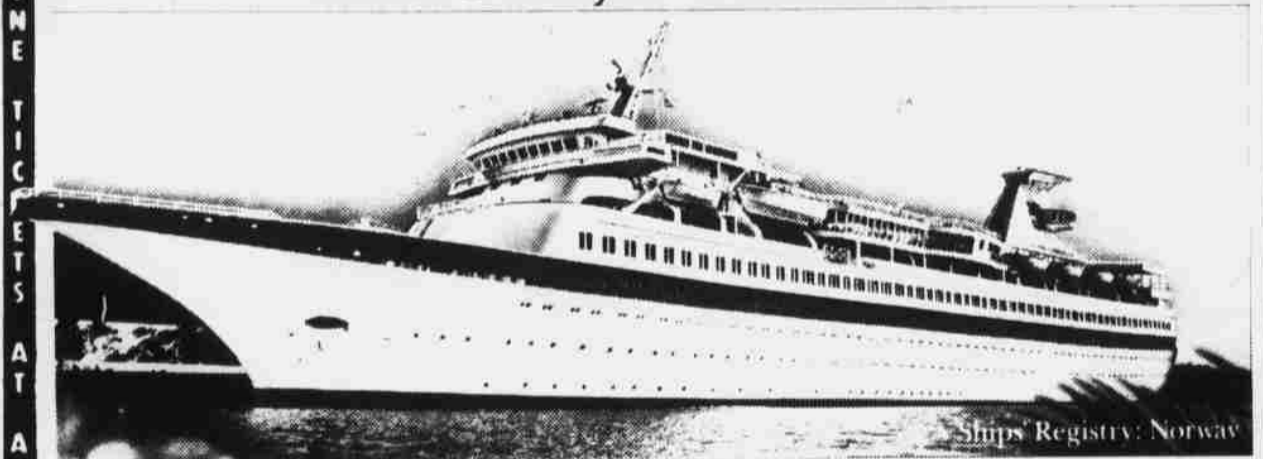

Most airlines, with a little advance (which we'll be glad to handle) will arrange special seating and advance boarding for the family traveling with a baby. Front-row seating will usually give you more operating room and you can usually pull out the chair arm between seats to make a bed. Some airlines provide bassinets which hook onto the wall in front of your seat. This is the best arrangement for very young infants.
