

JEWISH NEWS BRIEFS

BONN (WNS) -- The president of the German - Israeli Friendship Association, Erik Blumenfeld, has accused the West German media of "one sided reporting" and "biased commentary" in its coverage of events in Lebanon. He found "false and detestable" the media's use of the term "final solution" to define Israel's alleged intentions toward the Palestinians.

PARIS (WNS) -- Some 2,000 Moroccan and Palestinian students held a Palestinian solidarity march in downtown Casablanca, according to Le Monde. The paper said police dispersed the demonstrators who chanted against the Arab "defeatists" who, they said are prepared to give in to Israeli demands.

BONN (WNS) -- The Federal Police have confirmed that the German branch of the Ku Klux Klan has become increasingly active in the incitement of hatred toward Jews and violent attacks on foreigners in West Germany. According to the Bonn office of The Democratic Initiative, a group of anti-Nazi activists, well known West German neo-Nazi operate within the framework of the "United Klans of Germany," the official title of the KKK in this country.

BONN (WNS) -- A Jewish journalist has been awarded the 1982 Moses Mendelssohn Prize of the West Berlin Senate. Eva Reichmann, 84, who now lives in London, was the editor-in-chief of Berlin's pre-war newspaper "Der Morgen." In her book, "Die Flucht in den Hass" (Escape into Hatred, 1946), Reichmann investigated the causes of nationalist anti-Semitism. The Moses Mendelssohn Prize, which carries a stipend of DM 20,000, is awarded for "promoting tolerance toward those who think differently and between peoples, races, and religions."

GENEVA (WNS) -- The Zurich Jewish weekly, Israelitische Wochenblatt, has lodged a complaint of anti-Semitism against the Swiss National Radio for comparing Hitler's plans for the extermination of Jews with Israel's policies toward the Palestinians. The editors referred to a broadcast in which a chapter from Hitler's "Mein Kampf" was read with the substitution of the words "Palestinian" and "Palestinian people" for "Jew" and "the Jewish nation." They charged this was slanderous and anti-Semitic, defiled the memory of the Holocaust victims and was a direct attack on Swiss Jews.
