

PLO EVACUATION GOES SMOOTHLY

of Beirut, where he made his headquarters for some 12 years since being exiled from Jordan, Arafat met with Lebanese left wing leaders at the West Beirut home of leftist Druze leader, Walid Jumblatt.

According to an official count, just under 14,000 PLO fighters and Syrian soldiers (excluding women and children) have evacuated Beirut during the 10-day period. They included 7,728 PLO terrorists, 2,651 members of the pro-Syrian Palestine Liberation Army (PLA); and 3,598 Syrian soldiers. Meanwhile the Israeli employees of Israel Radio, who were held in West Beirut by leftwing terrorists have been freed, an Israeli military spokesman announced. According to the spokesman, the two Israelis, a driver and a sound technician, were allowed to walk back to east Beirut across the Galerie Semena crossing point between east and west Beirut. The two Israelis were captured several days earlier when they drove by mistake into west Beirut which is now controlled by leftwingers. Another Israel Radio employee, Sara Barkai, a reporter for the radio's French-language service, was freed September 1 after being captured with her two co-workers because she was holding a French passport.

Rosh Hashana Message

BY HENRY TAUB, PRESIDENT AMERICAN JEWISH JOINT DISTRIBUTION COMMITTEE

Just as Rosh Hashana marks the dawn of a new year, it marks still another opportunity to review and revitalize our spiritual inventory and renew our sense of purpose.

What is true of the individual is also true of organizations dedicated to the service of our people. We here at the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee can be duly gratified at the work we have done in the past year. We can also regret the work that remained undone because of insufficient funds, lack of qualified personnel or other priorities.

Rosh Hashana gives us the opportunity to correct the oversights and the shortcomings.

This year we have been able to extend our hand to more people in more areas. In Lebanon we sought to help people back along the road to self respect and dignity and to recover from the ravages of decades of strife. In Israel we lent a helping hand to a nation which was once more called upon to sacrifice the flower of its youth for continued freedom. In Eastern Europe we brought new hope and desperately needed emergency supplies to the Jewish community of Poland, and we re-established contact with the Jewish community of Czechoslovakia.

In every corner of the earth where JDC had a presence, it brought a message of hope and self respect.

In the name of all of those in the American and Canadian Jewish communities which make our work possible through their generosity and devotion to the United Jewish Appeal, and in the name of the hundreds of thousands of Jews throughout the world who look to us for help, we send New Year greetings.

May all be inscribed for a healthy, happy and peaceful New Year.

Happy New Year

"BOTTOMS UP '83" BACK AT SAHARA

The zany and madcap "Bottoms Up '83" bunch are back with great comedy and music twice nightly in the Congo Showroom of the Sahara Hotel and Casino. Starring irrepresible funnyman Breck Wall and featuring multi-talented comedians David Harris, Shon Vaughn and Sue Mot-singer, "Bottoms Up '83" plays Tuesday through Sunday at 8 p.m. and 12 midnight cocktail shows for only $9.95 per person, plus tax and tip.

Originating 25 years ago in Dallas, Texas, Breck Wall's "Bottoms Up" is America's longest-running musical-comedy revue. The show's long-running, successful format has become a comedy classic that has been often imitated.
