

ADL REPORTS ON TERRORIST ATTACKS

HOUSTON (WNS) -- A survey released by the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith indicated that in the past two years, a wave of terrorist attacks aimed at Jews and Israelis in Western Europe has killed 25 persons and wounded 373 others. The recent machine-gun attack on Rome's main synagogue was the 73rd separate incident reported in Western Europe since September 1980, Abraham Foxman, ADL's associate national director and head of its international affairs division, said.

The survey was conducted by ADL's European office based in Paris and tabulated incidents involving firearms, other weapons or bombs, desecrations of Jewish property. Not all the victims of the terrorist attacks were Jewish, the ADL official pointed out. The findings were made public at a session of the ADL's national executive committee which gathered here at the Westin Galleria Hotel. The conclave opened October 28 and ended October 31. "West European governments," Foxman said, "must be blamed, in part, for helping create a climate for anti-Semitic terror by allowing Palestine Liberation Organization representatives to operate on their soil." He pointed out that, according to the survey, the four nations with the highest totals of anti-Jewish or anti-Israel incidents were those which have been most supportive of the PLO.

France, with 29 incidents, including the Rue Copernic synagogue bombing of October, 1980, (which killed four persons), had the highest number, the survey reported. Twelve incidents were recorded in Italy, 11 in Austria, five in Greece, four each in Germany and Great Britain, two each in Belgium and Ireland and one each in Cyprus, Denmark, Holland and Switzerland.

In only one of the terror incidents -- the August 1981 machine-gun attack against a Vienna synagogue, in which two persons died and 19 were wounded -- were the perpetrators apprehended, Foxman pointed out. PLO operatives or sympathizers, he went on, were believed responsible for most of the attack. "Unfortunately there has been a tendency on the part of West European law enforcement authorities to view anti-Semitic terror as part of the Arab-Israel conflict and, in effect, extra-territorial. This has weakened investigative efforts."

Foxman noted that a common thread in many of the anti-Semitic attacks was identical weaponry, such as the Polish WZ-63 machine pistol which was used in the August 9, 1982 attack on Goldenberg's restaurant in the heart of Paris' Jewish quarter in which six persons were killed and 22 others injured. Another weapon used in many attacks was the Soviet or Czech-made "Banana" grenade.

SHARON TESTIFIES BEFORE INQUIRY PANEL

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- Defense Minister Ariel Sharon told the judicial commission of inquiry that it was assumed when Israel sent the Christian Phalangist forces into the Sabra and Shatila refugee camps in west Beirut last month there would be civilian deaths. "No one thought they (the Phalangists) would behave as we behave," he said. "But it is a very far cry from that assumption to the anticipation of a bloody massacre... None of us, myself included, ever for one moment in our worst dreams anticipated or feared a horror like that."

That distinction between anticipation of some civilian casualties and anticipation of a massacre was one of the key themes in Sharon's public testimony before the commission, meeting in a building on the He-University's west Jerusalem campus. Sharon gave evidence in open court for more than two hours before the chairman, Supreme Court Chief Justice Yitzhak Kahan, ruled that the rest of his testimony would be taken behind closed doors.

The Defense Minister said no one at any decision-making level in Israel had raised the thought of a potential massacre in prior consultations over the entry of the Phalangists into the camps. He said this included Deputy Premier David Levy's remark at the September 16 Cabinet meeting referring to a possible massacre. Levy had "not opposed" the decision to send the Phalangists in, Sharon said.
