6. They cannot be employed in any national body where State policy is to be determined. They cannot be elected to any Legislative Assembly. They must have their separate cultural central agency.

7. While to a non-Muslim who embraces Islam, all civil and all military rights are restored, a Moslem who accepts a non-Muslim faith is to be punished even unto death.

The report, moreover, cites numerous incidents where Christians were arrested and tortured. It notes that the literacy rate among the Christian population is 85% as compared with 33% among the Moslems, "yet," it points out, "the Christians have an access to barely 00.01% of all better jobs..."

The fact that no Christian regimes in the world were concerned about the fate of their Christian brethren in Pakistan nor made any move to help those in Lebanon only goes to prove how immoral and insidious such regimes are and brings to mind their age - long guilt not only in the cases of their co-religionists but primarily as to their persecution and torture of the Jewish people in addition to Moslems throughout the ages. It was a Christian dispensation that produced a Hitler. And let's not forget the Crusades and the Spanish Inquisition. There's still a price to be paid for these crimes.

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- The longtime ban by the Jerusalem Symphony Orchestra on performing the works of Richard Strauss, the German composer who once held an official position in the Nazi regime, has been lifted by unanimous decision of the orchestra's music committee. The committee's decision came after visiting guest conductor Igor Markevitch convinced them that Strauss was neither a Nazi or an anti-Semite. Strauss died in 1949 and is best known for his opera Der Rosenkavalier.

The resolution was approved by a 63 - 22 margin.
