

CBS TO TELEVISION FILM ON SOVIET JEWRY

from the World Conference on Soviet Jewry in Jerusalem. The film to be presented on the program, "The Last Journey," presents a rare pictorial exploration of remaining Jewish life and culture in the Soviet Union as photographed by Nodar Djindji-hashvili who journeyed across his native land before his own emigration to the United States. An award winning documentary, it was cited not only at the New York Film Festival, but was the recipient of one of the most prestigious cinema festival awards, the CINE Golden Eagle. In its review of the film, the coveted endorsement of the American Library Association noted: "The still photographs that make up almost all of the footage do not bear the precisely defined images and color intensity characteristic of modern Western prints, but the animation achieved through gentle dissolves and through the camera's evocative pans of individual scenes and intriguing studies of faces from the diverse Jewish population creates a compelling cinematic effect."

The film is perhaps best known for the featured eight-page color spread it received in the December 1981 issue of Life Magazine.

The CBS Passover Special is scheduled for airing on Sunday, March 27, from 10:30 - 11:30 A.M. in the Greater New York area (check listings for local time.)
