

BETTY HALL JONES

BETTY HALL JONES

BY ESTHER LYNN COHEN

She stands at the piano while she plays, sings and jokes. At a hint over five feet tall, she could disappear from view if she sat behind the baby grand. This entertaining, energetic, comedic artist is an exceptional performer under any circumstances but the fact that BETTY HALL JONES is 70 plus years young makes her a truly amazing lady.

Some of Betty's trademarks are her outlandish hats. Many fabulous, funny hats. A hat for every song and every occasion. For anyone else, this could be a gimmick to cover up a lack of talent. Not for Betty.

With over half a century of entertaining under her hats, Betty is a pro. She has performed on numerous USO tours, the college circuit and in nightclubs all over the world. She is an audience favorite from the Orient, Australia, Mexico and Canada, to the Catskills, Las Vegas and any other spot with a stage, a piano and people to entertain.

She plays and sings tunes from the 1920's to today. Boogie, blues, jazz, calypso, showtunes and parodies - to country and rock. Betty does it all.

She is called Miss Versatility, The Mad Hatter and The Galloping Grandma and is compared to today's top stars but she is incomparable. She is unique. Lots of songs, lots of hats, lots of laughs. Betty Hall Jones is a joy.

Betty Hall Jones is currently appearing at Carlos Murphy's.

A Story About
The UNLV
Runnin'
"Rebels"

By Davey Pearl

The top - ranked UNLV Runnin' Rebels had one of the most exciting seasons in the school's history, but coach Jerry Tarkanian hasn't been without the usual problems. Besides the numerous bangs and bruises from a long, hard - fought season, it seems Tark's team and the entire coaching staff have all come down with the flu at some point in the season. Two of the Rebels, Jerry's son Danny and Sidney Green were both hospitalized because the flu and bronchitis got so bad. Despite the fine work of doctors like Dr. Gahnam and modern medicine, the road to recovery for both players was old fashioned chicken soup - Jewish Penicillin.

UNLV fan Susan Molasky brought chicken soup to Sunrise Hospital every day both Sid and Danny were there and the unsung credit should go to Susan for her part in getting both players back on their feet. The chicken soup worked pretty well too. After being released the day before the PCAA Tournament, Sid scored 31 points the next night and was named the MVP of the Tournament. It just goes to show, nothing is better for your health than a little Jewish medicine. Maybe we ought to bottle it and use it for UNLV fund-raising.
