CHANNEL 10 TRIES NEW METHODS OF RAISING MONEY

One of the innovative ways which has helped public television stations in other locations across the U.S. is the tour package, coordinated with travel services, opera seasons, seasonal excursions and cruises, and the like.

Channel 10 will participate in the newest jaunt -- The Masterpieces and More Tours starting this month. Sponsored by the station's fundraising group The Friends of Channel 10, the unique PBS Tour through England, Scotland and France is intended to entice the viewers to such Public TV locations for Masterpiece Theater, Edward and Mrs. Simpson, The Duchess of Duke Street, and the most intriguing of all, the setting of Brideshead Revisited.

There is a special KLVX, Channel 10, Las Vegas tour set for departure on October 16, designed to capture England's Glorious Southwest for the public television-oriented farers.

For information and a colorful brochure containing information about the tours, plus details how Channel 10 will benefit from the planned vacations, call the toll free coordinator's number: 800-428-7825, ext. 41 in San Diego, California. The Promotion Office at Channel 10 will also answer any questions from interested parties.

TWO ISRAELI SOLDIERS KILLED IN LEBANON

JERUSALEM (WNS) -- Funeral services were held for two Israeli soldiers killed in Beirut a day earlier when a booby-trapped car exploded near their patrol. Two other soldiers, slightly injured by the blast, were hospitalized in Haifa. Five Lebanese passers-by also were hurt. The dead soldiers were identified as Sgt. Moshe Edelstein, 31, of Kibbutz Ramat David and Yosef Ben-Or, of Kibbutz Givat Haim. Israeli authorities did not immediately confirm the casualties, first reported by Beirut radio. Later, however, they gave details of the incident.

According to a military spokesman, it occurred at about 10 a.m. local time as two Israeli armored personnel carriers were passing through the Galerie Semaan, a busy intersection between east and west Beirut which have been the scene of several terrorist attacks in recent weeks. The first APC passed safely. The second was rocked by the explosion of a car less than 10 yards behind it. The car was identified as a Mercedes containing 100 - 200 kilograms of high explosives. Nearby buildings were heavily damaged.

The Israeli army beefed up its security arrangements immediately after the explosion. Israeli soldiers set up road blocks on the road leading to local headquarters in the Yarze section of Beirut, something they have rarely done in that part of the city. The perpetrators were not caught. A military spokesman explained that terrorists frequently shoot at Israeli patrols in the Galerie Semaan, which takes its name from a large furniture store.
