

Remarkable Book By Serge Klarsfeld Published As Memorial To Jews Of France

The first comprehensive listing of the almost 80,000 French Jews killed in the Holocaust, compiled by famed Nazi hunter, Serge Klarsfeld, is now available in English.

This remarkable and moving book, "Memorial to the Jews Deported from France 1942-1944" (shown above), is the size of a major city telephone directory and contains not only the name, age, birthplace and nationality of each victim, but also detailed descriptions of each of the 78 convoy trains to the death camps. There are also hitherto unpublished photographs, documents and eyewitness accounts.

Serge Klarsfeld, who with his wife Beate helped bring Gestapo chief Klaus Barbie to justice, found these lists of deportees in a French Jewish archive. The book he compiled will serve not only as memorial to the French Jews, but as a reminder to the world of a period in history that must never be allowed to occur again.

(Continued from page 1) its forces from Lebanon for a change in its agreement with Lebanon which both countries signed May 17. McFarlane said that in addition to visiting Beirut again, after making his first stop there before going on to Israel, he would also visit other Arab capitals.

There were indications here when McFarlane arrived, that the U.S. was seeking more concessions from Israel to help solve the crisis in Lebanon where Christian Phalangists and Druze have been fighting each other and where battles have been waging between Palestine Liberation Organization factions.

One of the pressure points Israeli circles felt the U.S. was applying was to convince Israel to publish a comprehensive timetable for the withdrawal of its forces from Lebanon. McFarlane told Shamir and Arens that President Amin Gemayel of Lebanon had raised this issue with him. The envoy said Gemayel made it clear that he does not believe Israel wants to partition Lebanon, but public opinion in Lebanon is seeking assurances to this effect and a published timetable would be reassuring.

Shamir and Arens both rejected this concept, and reiterated

Israel's position that it has no intention of remaining in Lebanon longer than necessary, that its forces would leave as soon as the Syrian and PLO forces left. They also reiterated Israel's position that the redeployment of its forces in southern Lebanon was part of a phased withdrawal.

Soviets Are Urged To Release Tarnopolsky

NEW YORK (WNS) - More than 150 participants at the 35th annual meeting of the American Association for Clinical Chemistry sent a petition to Soviet authorities appealing for the release of Dr. Yuri Tarnopolsky, a 47-year-old chemist from Kharkov, it was reported by the Committee of Concerned Scientists, an independent organization of 4,000 American Scientists dedicated to advancing human rights and scientific freedom of colleagues worldwide.

Tarnopolsky was sentenced on June 30 to three years in a labor camp, the maximum penalty for "defaming the Soviet State." The sentence capped the Soviet authorities' longstanding campaign to silence the emigration activist in his eight-year quest for an exit visa, the Committee said.
